PEACE HOPE UNIMPROVED--TRUMAN

"ANTI-TRUMAN" GOVERNORS confer at Jackson, Miss., on resolution they adopted binding Democratic convention delegates to withhold vote from any candidate favoring the Truman-sponsored civil rights bill: Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi, J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Ben Laney of Arkansas. Fifteen hundred southern Democrats meeting at Jackson scheduled a "Dixie convention" July 17 at Birmingham, Ala., if a civil rights plank goes in the Democratic party platform.

NEW MOVING BASE

Congress To Get Truman Views On Parity Program

WASHINGTON, May 13—Congress will receive President Truman's views on a long-range farm program before it acts on the Senate agriculture committee's bill reported out late yesterday.

Proponents of the bill, the main feature of which is a new formula to provide a price support at 75 percent of parity, see no chance of it coming up on the Senate floor before late next week.

The President's agriculture message is expected on Capitol Hill very soon, perhaps tomorrow or early next week.

The bill contains a parity formula on all commodities which combines the old 1910-1914 formula with a new "moving base" covering the 10 previous years. An effort is expected to include the cost of hired farm labor in the parity price formula.

SEN. AIKEN, (R) Vt., sponsor of the measure, said the new parity formula would work this way, using corn as an example:

The average price of corn over the last 10 years was 95 cents a bushel. The cost of goods

Single Casket Has 35 Bodies

ST. LOUIS, May 13—A single casket holding the remains of 35 persons rested today in a grave at the Jefferson Barracks' National Cemetery in St. Louis County.

The remains are of the 35 persons killed in an Army transport plane crash in Dutch Guiana in January of 1943.

Among those killed were Novelist Eric Knight and P. E. Foxworth, former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in New York who directed the search early in the war for the Nazi saboteurs landed in the United States by submarine.

Otherwise this is the year when the Summer replacement programs will be replaced by the Fall replacement hopefuls.

I understand Mr. Truman is willing to debate opposition Democrats provided he can take them on one at a time.

I don't know why all this radio fuss. Godfrey has done so well with his "talent scouts" it seems useless for Stassen and Dewey to free lance.

Anyway the winner of the debate will take on Taft in television. They figure when the lights hit his head no one ever will see the light in his eyes.

Solons Assured Russia To Get No ERP Benefits

WASHINGTON, May 13—European Recovery Administrator Paul Hoffman assured Congress today that he would halt the diversion of any American potential war materials or equipment from the Marshall Plan countries to Russia.

Hoffman, testifying before the Senate appropriations committee, was asked about reports that Britain is receiving American steel and exporting jet plane engines to Russia. He replied:

"We have a specific directive on that and we expect to meet it. If it is true that we are furnishing aid to any country and as a result that country is shipping commodities for which we don't grant export licenses, we've got to stop it. We'll have to meet it and that's that."

Hoffman asked the committee to grant four billion, 245 million dollars for his program and was

Retail Food Prices Rising

CHICAGO, May 13—Retail food prices were reported on the upswing again today across the United States.

Mrs. R. M. Kiefer, secretary-manager of the National Association of Retail Grocers, declared that a weekly survey showed a nationwide increase during the week of May 4 through 11.

Mrs. Kiefer said butter and meat led the upswing, the former advancing two to five cents a pound while meat showed a general increase of three cents.

Detectives Grill Murder Suspect

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., May 13—Columbus Detective Chief Glenn C. Hoffman and Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett continued today to question Homer Jack Dean, number one suspect in the Dec. 10 slaying of a Columbus real estate dealer, Elmo C. Rice.

Hoffman, Bartlett and two assistants grilled the ex-carnival barker yesterday without result. Hoffman said:

"He'll talk, all right, but he won't say the right things. We're going to try again today."

UAW Strike Spreads To More Plants

Suppliers Forced To Lay Off Crews

DETROIT, May 13—The one-day-old strike of 75,000 UAW-CIO members against the Chrysler Corp., forced 11,000 vehicle body-builders into idleness today and threatened to mushroom even further.

Picketing at Metropolitan Detroit's 11 Chrysler plants continued peacefully as the Briggs Manufacturing Co., suspended the assembly of Chrysler-bound bodies.

Two thousand additional layoffs are expected at Briggs by Monday.

Another 1,800 wage earners were furloughed at Briggs' Evansville, Ind., plant as indications grew that unemployment among Chrysler suppliers eventually would mount to near 50,000.

There was no indication, as the auto union's third-round wage drive entered its second day, that the corporation planned to sue the UAW under Michigan law for calling the strike illegally.

THE BONINE-TRIPP Act, known as the state's "Little Taft-Hartley law," forbids strikes without approval of the majority union membership in a poll conducted by the Michigan labor board. The UAW failed to comply before calling out its members to enforce a 30-cent hourly wage demand.

Wayne County Prosecutor James N. McNally rejected a complaint from the labor board yesterday, holding that only Chrysler may properly request prosecution of the union.

Both the corporation and the union appear to have resigned themselves to a lengthy strike. No peace overtures were made by either side during the first day.

Dixie Senators Press Demands

WASHINGTON, May 13—Southern senators swung into a desperate fight today to save the 15-state education compact bill from a judiciary committee pigeonhole.

The Senate agreed to vote at 4 p. m. on the motion of Sen. Morse, (R) Ore., to send the measure back to the judiciary committee.

Recommittal would end for this session congressional action on the House-passed bill for approval of the Southern agreement under which 15 states want to operate the all-Negro Meharry college at Nashville.

Southern senators declared that failure of Congress to act would force Meharry, a privately-endowed school which is having financial troubles, to close next June.

Morse and Sen. Cooper, (R) Ky., asserted that congressional approval is not needed, and that the 15 states can act without federal sanction. Morse charged that sponsors are seeking to get Congress to endorse segregation.

Mystery Box Catches Lads

COLUMBUS, May 13—Six high school boys are to appear before Columbus juvenile authorities today—the victims of modern science.

A housewife saw the boys tamper with a fire alarm box yesterday morning, then board a bus for school.

Leo Specht of the fire prevention bureau answered her call, carrying a mysterious little black box. A short time later he appeared at the school and asked to see all the boys who travelled on a certain bus that morning.

He asked the boys to slip their hands through a shutter in the box and—presto!—their hands and sleeves gave off a brilliant green light.

Answer: The fire boxes are treated with fluorescent "trapping paste" that shows up for three days on hands placed under ultra-violet light.

U. S. Offers New Plan

UN High Chief For Zion Asked

LAKE SUCCESS, May 13—The United States presented a new and final plan to the United Nations today which would place all Palestine under a UN high commissioner of limited powers.

The latest American formula was presented in a closed meeting of the political committee's subsidiary drafting group and is expected to draw heavy fire from the Soviet bloc.

At the same time, in an open meeting of another drafting group occupied with Jerusalem, the U. S. pushed hard for adoption of the Franco-American scheme placing the holy city under a municipal high commissioner. He would rule by decree in the name of the UN trusteeship council.

The Jerusalem UN ruler would have under him an emergency mayor also appointed by the trusteeship council.

THE NEW U. S. move is the final eleventh-hour effort to be undertaken in the Holy Land issue.

Under the new plan designed to beat the 5 p. m. (EST) mandate deadline tomorrow, this high commissioner would be chosen by a committee made up of representatives of the United States, France, Russia, Britain and China. The appointment will

Haganah Moves Into Jaffa Area

JERUSALEM, May 13—Haganah troops moved into Palestine's great port city of Jaffa today following formal Arab surrender.

In Tel Aviv, the Jews announced setup of a countrywide postal and communications service in advance of Britain's mandate surrender which becomes effective at 5:01 p. m. (EST) Friday.

A Jewish military commander will be named for Jaffa and Jewish troops will replace the British as occupational forces.

Haganah spokesmen emphasized, however, that no attempt will be made to incorporate Jaffa into the Jewish state when it is proclaimed.

The city always has been predominantly Arab but the Arab population has diminished

Taft Set To Battle Teen Draft

Segregation Issue Pressed By South

WASHINGTON, May 13—Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, said today he will fight the Senate proposal for military training of 18-year-olds despite the inclusion of permissive volunteering in the manpower program.

The Senate GOP leader, a opponent of Universal Military Training in any form, said the fact that the draft-training bill now permits trainees to volunteer "doesn't make any difference."

Selective Service experts have informed the Senate armed services committee that the volunteer proviso would make the number of 18-year-olds actually drafted "negligible."

Meanwhile, the threat of a Senate Southern Democratic filibuster against the manpower bill brought a slow-down in the schedule for House action on its straight two-year draft bill. House GOP leaders indicated their 19-through-25 draft bill will not be called up next Tuesday as planned.

THERE ARE strong indications that the House leaders will wait now until the Senate has acted on its measure before exposing their members to an election-year vote on the draft.

Democratic opposition to the Senate bill developed over the racial segregation issue. Sens. Russell, (D) Ga., and Maybank, (D) S. C., defeated in committee, offered an amendment on the floor to guarantee a draftee, upon his request, assignment to a unit composed of men of his own race.

Southern senators denied that they plan to filibuster the draft bill because of the failure to include the Russell-Maybank amendment. Russell called his proposal a "special privilege" for those youths who did not want to serve in unsegregated units.

One administration source forecast a filibuster. He said the combination bill to draft 18-year-olds for one year of training and induct those 19 through 25 for two years service would have "rough going" in the Senate.

New Try Made In Meat Dispute

CHICAGO, May 13—Conferences seeking a settlement in the 59-day-old, nationwide meat packing strike are being planned here today between a new three-member government conciliation group and representatives of the big four packers.

The conferences between the federal panel and spokesmen for Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson packing companies are expected to follow a session held yesterday between government officials and the striking CIO United Packinghouse Workers union.

Between 80,000 and 100,000 packinghouse workers have been on strike throughout the nation since March 16, following the breakdown of wage negotiations.

Utility Seeking To Issue Bonds

COLUMBUS, May 13 — The state utilities commission announced today that the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. had asked permission to issue $10 million worth of three percent first mortgage bonds.

The commission set next Tuesday for a hearing at the request of its chief accountant, Edward E. Knaub. The company's application said the proceeds of the issue would be used to reimburse its treasury for expenditures from current income during the period from July 1, 1943, to March 3, 1948.

The utility said the money was spent to expand services in the 23 counties served by the company.

STORMY DEBATE RAGES

Truman Insists Keeping Condon Letter A Secret

WASHINGTON, May 13—President Truman said today that he does not propose to make public an FBI letter concerning the loyalty of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

Condon, accused by the House UnAmerican activities committee of being "one of the weakest links in our atomic security," has requested publication of the letter as demanded by the House committee.

The President indicated today that a higher principle is involved in the matter than just the publication of a single letter.

Mr. Truman declared emphatically that Congress does not have the power to make the chief executive divulge confidential information and therefore the FBI letter, written by Director J. Edgar Hoover, will not be made public.

UN Korea Panel Splits On Poll

SEOUL, May 13—A split within the United Nations Commission for Korea developed today regarding evaluation of last Monday's South Korean election.

It was intimated that some commission members may not be entirely satisfied with the methods employed in conducting the American-supervised election in which 92 percent of the registered voters cast ballots.

The commission meanwhile went ahead with plans to go to Shanghai to write a report, despite the announced willingness of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to provide office space in Tokyo for the UN body.

Previously, the Allied commander had turned down the commission's request for a temporary Tokyo headquarters on the grounds that such-major accomodations were not available in the Japanese capital.

Eaton Is Named In Stock Deal

DETROIT, May 13—Cleveland Financier Cyrus Eaton was revealed today as being "interested" in blocking the $10,000,000 Kaiser-Frazer stock issue.

Eaton, head of the financial firm, Otis and Co., was named by two Cleveland attorneys, Marvin C. Harrison and Allan Hull.

SEC Council Louis Loss said Hull admitted coming to Detroit Feb. 9 to see if the so-called Masterson suit had been filed.

The Masterson suit precipitated withdrawal by Otis and Co. from its pledge to underwrite part of the $10,000,000 Kaiser-Frazer stock issue.

Fire Chief Sheds Tear As Bessie Makes Last Trip

Fire Chief Talmer Wise wiped a tear from his eye Thursday morning (it could have been exhaust fumes, not nostalgic memories) as Old Bessie, the veteran 1914 fire engine of the Circleville fire department, was driven away for the last time.

Thursday's escapade was Bessie's final jaunt under her own power.

The service director and the mayor piloted the antiquated blaze-chaser to the city garage, where she will be dismantled of her engine, pump, wheels, glass, headlights, transmission and even her proud whistle as part of the program to set her down in Ted Lewis park as a plaything for Circleville children.

Dayton Faced With Stickler

DAYTON, May 13—The city of Dayton was faced with an embarrassing situation today.

A $50-a-week laborer moved his family of five into a $12-a-day hotel suite last night vowing to bill the city for half the cost.

Following their eviction yesterday, 32-year-old Charles Bremer moved into the Hotel Gibbons after a futile five-month search for housing. He said he had appealed to every agency in the city but received no aid.

"Until the city does something about finding us a place to live," Bremer said he intended to stay.

The management said their new guests would be treated the same as others. No comment was forthcoming from city officials.

Alien Signup Bill Backed

WASHINGTON, May 13—House leaders today threw their support behind a Senate-enacted bill to compel all aliens in the nation to register with the Justice department.

If enacted into law, aliens would be required to notify the commissioner of immigration and naturalization of their address between July 1 and 10 and every six months thereafter.

Bilateral Conference Ruled Out

President Belittles U. S. Commies

WASHINGTON, May 13—President Truman declared today that the recent conversations between United States and Russian diplomatic representatives have not improved his hopes for world peace.

The chief executive told a news conference that his viewpoint is unchanged since his assertion several weeks ago that Soviet expansionist policies had materially shaken his hopes for peace.

Mr. Truman emphatically ruled out any prospect of a bilateral conference between the United States and Russia to end the "cold war" or any conference between himself and Premier Stalin.

At the same time, the President expressed opposition to any congressional move to outlaw the Communist Party in the United States.

HE BELITTLED the importance of American Communists—and likewise tossed a chip at the Henry Wallace third party by saying that splinter parties never do any real harm.

The President flashed a spark of anger in declaring that any meeting between himself and Soviet Premier Stalin is highly hypothetical.

He pointed out that he frequently had announced his willingness to meet Stalin—in Washington—but made it clear that he is issuing no new invitation.

Mr. Truman backed to the hilt Secretary of State Marshall's rejection of any two-power conference on U. S.-Soviet diffculties.

He likewise stated that administration policies toward Russia had been faithfully outlined to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov by U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith. Mr. Truman said he had approved Smith's action and the contents of his conversations with Molotov beforehand.

THE PRESIDENT said the Russian response to Smith's oral presentation had not altered the fundamental issues between Sov-

Observers Warn Frost Possible

There still was a little rain in Ohio Thursday particularly in the southeast section where the weather bureau said a drizzle could be expected by night.

Tomorrow was to be fair and not so cool, with night temperatures remaining sufficiently high to stave off any threat of frost.

Weathermen described the next two weeks in Ohio as "ticklish" so far as frost is concerned. They said that practically all fruit trees are in full bloom and vulnerable to even light formations of frost.

May 21, is the latest date on record for a killing frost in Ohio. That date is less than two weeks away and observers said the chance for a destructive frost "are getting slimmer day by day." They added, however, that "low ground folks need to worry a little until the end of the month."

Police Uncover Small Arsenal

CINCINNATI, May 13—A small arsenal of nearly 50 weapons and two cases of assorted ammunition was uncovered by Cincinnati police today.

The weapons were discovered as police investigated the shooting of Jack Fischer, 39, during a family argument with his son-in-law, William G. Zeuch, 20, of Ludlow, Ky., who was held on suspicion in connection with the shooting.

Fischer, shot in the chest with a .22 caliber revolver, was reported in "good" condition.

When police searched Fischer's house following the shooting, they discovered 30 assorted automatic pistols, 16 rifles and shotguns, the ammunition, and two machine pistols.

NEW MOVING BASE

Congress To Get Truman Views On Parity Program

WASHINGTON, May 13—Congress will receive President Truman's views on a long-range farm program before it acts on the Senate agriculture committee's bill reported out late yesterday.

Proponents of the bill, the main feature of which is a new formula to provide a price support at 75 percent of parity, see no chance of it coming up on the Senate floor before late next week.

The President's agriculture message is expected on Capitol Hill very soon, perhaps tomorrow or early next week.

The bill contains a parity formula on all commodities which combines the old 1910-1914 formula with a new "moving base" covering the 10 previous years. An effort is expected to include the cost of hired farm labor in the parity price formula.

SEN. AIKEN, (R) Vt., sponsor of the measure, said the new parity formula would work this way, using corn as an example:

UAW Strike Spreads To More Plants

Suppliers Forced To Lay Off Crews

DETROIT, May 13—The one-day-old strike of 75,000 UAW-CIO members against the Chrysler Corp., forced 11,000 vehicle body-builders into idleness today and threatened to mushroom even further.

Picketing at Metropolitan Detroit's 11 Chrysler plants continued peacefully as the Briggs Manufacturing Co., suspended the assembly of Chrysler-bound bodies.

Two thousand additional layoffs are expected at Briggs by Monday.

Another 1,800 wage earners were furloughed at Briggs' Evansville, Ind., plant as indications grew that unemployment among Chrysler suppliers eventually would mount to near 50,000.

There was no indication, as the auto union's third-round wage drive entered its second day, that the corporation planned to sue the UAW under Michigan law for calling the strike illegally.

THE BONINE-TRIPP Act, known as the state's "Little Taft-Hartley law," forbids strikes without approval of the majority union membership in a poll conducted by the Michigan labor board. The UAW failed to comply before calling out its members to enforce a 30-cent hourly wage demand.

Wayne County Prosecutor James N. McNally rejected a complaint from the labor board yesterday, holding that only Chrysler may properly request prosecution of the union.

Both the corporation and the union appear to have resigned themselves to a lengthy strike. No peace overtures were made by either side during the first day.

Dixie Senators Press Demands

WASHINGTON, May 13—Southern senators swung into a desperate fight today to save the 15-state education compact bill from a judiciary committee pigeonhole.

The Senate agreed to vote at 4 p. m. on the motion of Sen. Morse, (R) Ore., to send the measure back to the judiciary committee.

Recommittal would end for this session congressional action on the House-passed bill for approval of the Southern agreement under which 15 states want to operate the all-Negro Meharry college at Nashville.

Southern senators declared that failure of Congress to act would force Meharry, a privately-endowed school which is having financial troubles, to close next June.

Morse and Sen. Cooper, (R) Ky., asserted that congressional approval is not needed, and that the 15 states can act without federal sanction. Morse charged that sponsors are seeking to get Congress to endorse segregation.

Taft Set To Battle Teen Draft

Segregation Issue Pressed By South

WASHINGTON, May 13—Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, said today he will fight the Senate proposal for military training of 18-year-olds despite the inclusion of permissive volunteering in the manpower program.

The Senate GOP leader, a opponent of Universal Military Training in any form, said the fact that the draft-training bill now permits trainees to volunteer "doesn't make any difference."

Selective Service experts have informed the Senate armed services committee that the volunteer proviso would make the number of 18-year-olds actually drafted "negligible."

Meanwhile, the threat of a Senate Southern Democratic filibuster against the manpower bill brought a slow-down in the schedule for House action on its straight two-year draft bill. House GOP leaders indicated their 19-through-25 draft bill will not be called up next Tuesday as planned.

THERE ARE strong indications that the House leaders will wait now until the Senate has acted on its measure before exposing their members to an election-year vote on the draft.

Democratic opposition to the Senate bill developed over the racial segregation issue. Sens. Russell, (D) Ga., and Maybank, (D) S. C., defeated in committee, offered an amendment on the floor to guarantee a draftee, upon his request, assignment to a unit composed of men of his own race.

Southern senators denied that they plan to filibuster the draft bill because of the failure to include the Russell-Maybank amendment. Russell called his proposal a "special privilege" for those youths who did not want to serve in unsegregated units.

One administration source forecast a filibuster. He said the combination bill to draft 18-year-olds for one year of training and induct those 19 through 25 for two years service would have "rough going" in the Senate.

New Try Made In Meat Dispute

CHICAGO, May 13—Conferences seeking a settlement in the 59-day-old, nationwide meat packing strike are being planned here today between a new three-member government conciliation group and representatives of the big four packers.

The conferences between the federal panel and spokesmen for Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson packing companies are expected to follow a session held yesterday between government officials and the striking CIO United Packinghouse Workers union.

Utility Seeking To Issue Bonds

COLUMBUS, May 13 — The state utilities commission announced today that the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. had asked permission to issue $10 million worth of three percent first mortgage bonds.

The commission set next Tuesday for a hearing at the request of its chief accountant, Edward E. Knaub. The company's application said the proceeds of the issue would be used to reimburse its treasury for expenditures from current income during the period from July 1, 1943, to March 3, 1948.

The utility said the money was spent to expand services in the 23 counties served by the company.

STORMY DEBATE RAGES

Truman Insists Keeping Condon Letter A Secret

WASHINGTON, May 13—President Truman said today that he does not propose to make public an FBI letter concerning the loyalty of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

Condon, accused by the House UnAmerican activities committee of being "one of the weakest links in our atomic security," has requested publication of the letter as demanded by the House committee.

The President indicated today that a higher principle is involved in the matter than just the publication of a single letter.

Mr. Truman declared emphatically that Congress does not have the power to make the chief executive divulge confidential information and therefore the FBI letter, written by Director J. Edgar Hoover, will not be made public.

THE PRESIDENT'S statement came as the House was expected to pass a bill compelling cabinet members and government to turn over any in-

UN Korea Panel Splits On Poll

SEOUL, May 13—A split within the United Nations Commission for Korea developed today regarding evaluation of last Monday's South Korean election.

It was intimated that some commission members may not be entirely satisfied with the methods employed in conducting the American-supervised election in which 92 percent of the registered voters cast ballots.

The commission meanwhile went ahead with plans to go to Shanghai to write a report, despite the announced willingness of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to provide office space in Tokyo for the UN body.

Previously, the Allied commander had turned down the commission's request for a temporary Tokyo headquarters on the grounds that such major accomodations were not available in the Japanese capital.

Eaton Is Named In Stock Deal

DETROIT, May 13—Cleveland Financier Cyrus Eaton was revealed today as being "interested" in blocking the $10,000,000 Kaiser-Frazer stock issue.

Eaton, head of the financial firm, Otis and Co., was named by two Cleveland attorneys, Marvin C. Harrison and Allan Hull.

SEC Council Louis Loss said Hull admitted coming to Detroit Feb. 9 to see if the so-called Masterson suit had been filed.

The Masterson suit precipitated withdrawal by Otis and Co. from its pledge to underwrite part of the $10,000,000 Kaiser-Frazer stock issue.

Ban Ordered

HAMILTON, May 13—A 90-day quarantine went into effect here today in an effort to stem an outbreak of rabies. City Health Commissioner A. M. Clarke said three rabid dogs had been found on city streets in the last several days.

Fire Chief Sheds Tear As Bessie Makes Last Trip

Fire Chief Talmer Wise wiped a tear from his eye Thursday morning (it could have been exhaust fumes, not nostalgic memories) as Old Bessie, the veteran 1914 fire engine of the Circleville fire department, was driven away for the last time.

Thursday's escapade was Bessie's final jaunt under her own power.

The service director and the mayor piloted the antiquated blaze-chaser to the city garage, where she will be dismantled of her engine, pump, wheels, glass, headlights, transmission and even her proud whistle as part of the program to set her down in Ted Lewis park as a plaything for Circleville children.

If the old engine brings the Circleville children as much satisfaction as it did Mayor Miller and Rooney when they piloted it up Court street Thursday

Dayton Faced With Stickler

DAYTON, May 13—The city of Dayton was faced with an embarrassing situation today.

A $50-a-week laborer moved his family of five into a $12-a-day hotel suite last night vowing to bill the city for half the cost.

Following their eviction yesterday, 32-year-old Charles Bremer moved into the Hotel Gibbons after a futile five-month search for housing. He said he had appealed to every agency in the city but received no aid.

"Until the city does something about finding us a place to live," Bremer said he intended to stay.

The management said their new guests would be treated the same as others. No comment was forthcoming from city officials.

Alien Signup Bill Backed

WASHINGTON, May 13—House leaders today threw their support behind a Senate-enacted bill to compel all aliens in the nation to register with the Justice department.

If enacted into law, aliens would be required to notify the commissioner of immigration and naturalization of their address between July 1 and 10 and every six months thereafter.

Bilateral Conference Ruled Out

President Belittles U. S. Commies

WASHINGTON, May 13—President Truman declared today that the recent conversations between United States and Russian diplomatic representatives have not improved his hopes for world peace.

The chief executive told a news conference that his viewpoint is unchanged since his assertion several weeks ago that Soviet expansionist policies had materially shaken his hopes for peace.

Mr. Truman emphatically ruled out any prospect of a bilateral conference between the United States and Russia to end the "cold war" or any conference between himself and Premier Stalin.

At the same time, the President expressed opposition to any congressional move to outlaw the Communist Party in the United States.

HE BELITTLED the importance of American Communists—and likewise tossed a chip at the Henry Wallace third party by saying that splinter parties never do any real harm.

The President flashed a spark of anger in declaring that any meeting between himself and Soviet Premier Stalin is highly hypothetical.

He pointed out that he frequently had announced his willingness to meet Stalin—in Washington—but made it clear that he is issuing no new invitation.

Mr. Truman backed to the hilt Secretary of State Marshall's rejection of any two-power conference on U. S.-Soviet diffculties.

He likewise stated that administration policies toward Russia had been faithfully outlined to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov by U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith. Mr. Truman said he had approved Smith's action and the contents of his conversations with Molotov beforehand.

THE PRESIDENT said the Russian response to Smith's oral presentation had not altered the fundamental issues between Sov-

Observers Warn Frost Possible

There still was a little rain in Ohio Thursday particularly in the southeast section where the weather bureau said a drizzle could be expected by night.

Tomorrow was to be fair and not so cool, with night temperatures remaining sufficiently high to stave off any threat of frost.

Weathermen described the next two weeks in Ohio as "ticklish" so far as frost is concerned. They said that practically all fruit trees are in full bloom and vulnerable to even light formations of frost.

May 21, is the latest date on record for a killing frost in Ohio. That date is less than two weeks away and observers said the chance for a destructive frost "are getting slimmer day by day." They added, however, that "low ground folks need to worry a little until the end of the month."

Police Uncover Small Arsenal

CINCINNATI, May 13—A small arsenal of nearly 50 weapons and two cases of assorted ammunition was uncovered by Cincinnati police today.

The weapons were discovered as police investigated the shooting of Jack Fischer, 39, during a family argument with his son-in-law, William G. Zeuch, 20, of Ludlow, Ky., who was held on suspicion in connection with the shooting.

Fischer, shot in the chest with a .22 caliber revolver, was reported in "good" condition.

When police searched Fischer's house following the shooting, they discovered 30 assorted automatic pistols, 16 rifles and shotguns, the ammunition, and two machine pistols.

let Russia, the United States, and the rest of the world.

Meanwhile, other sources disclosed that Marshall has halted immediate inauguration of a new trade policy which would permit the Russian bloc of nations to increase American purchases.

The action was attributed primarily to the so-called Russian "peace offensive," which many top government officials regard skeptically.

The United States plans to continue its diplomatic offensive to contain Russian expansionism despite Moscow's endeavor to call an international conference to end the "cold war."

It was made clear today that there will be no letdown in the U. S. military program or plans to aid nations friendly to democracy.

Officials are hopeful that the propaganda effect of Moscow's maneuver will be overcome by the forthright statement of Secretary of State Marshall that the United States will hold no two-power conference with the Soviet Union.

It is well-established now that American officials were caught off balance when the Moscow radio Monday night blared forth a summary of conversations between Ambassador Smith and Molotov.

Youth, 17, Fined On Theft Count

Arthur Joseph, 17, of Versailles, Ky., was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty before Judge Sterling M. Lamb in Pickaway County juvenile court to petty larceny.

The youth also made restitution of $25 which he reportedly stole in a wallet from H. B. Carlisle while Carlisle was asleep in the New American Hotel.

Joseph was apprehended in Chillicothe after he had hired a Circleville taxi for the trip. He was boarding a bus there when Ross County police nabbed him.

Barman Held On Fight Count

Ned Buskirk, 50, who operates the Green Lantern cafe on West Main street, was released on a $50 bond Thursday to appear before Mayor Thurman I. Miller at 8 p. m. Thursday for drunk and disorderly conduct, fighting and resisting arrest.

Buskirk was taken into custody at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday on West Main street by Officers Roderick List and Alvah Shasteen.

The Air Transport Command at Westover said the plane left on a routine instrument training flight. Four men were known to be aboard.

formation demanded by a congressional committee.

Administration supporters dug in for a last-ditch fight but admitted they have virtually no hope of blocking enactment of the measure.

The legislation would override President Truman's recent edict which clamped a lid on government loyalty files.

The bill confronts government officials with one-year imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for defying committee requests. It precipitated one of the most bitter floor battles of the session and brought the "heavy guns" of both parties into the debate.

The bill makes it mandatory for all cabinet members and officials to give up information upon demand but does not apply to the chief executive.

President Truman earlier this month took personal possession of the letter concerning the Condon's activities.

In the stormy debate, Minority Leader Rayburn, (D) Tex., warned that the Congress would be encroaching on the President's power by passage of the resolution. He inquired:

"WHO IS BETTER qualified to say what information shall be disclosed in matters of national defense than the President?"

Majority Leader Halleck, (R) Ind., countered that Congress by the actions of the administration is being forced "to legislate in a vacuum." He declared:

3 Miners Held In Coal Shaft

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 13—Rescue squads toiled frantically today to extricate three miners trapped 200 feet below the surface in an independent coal shaft near here.

State Trooper Carl Lubis said he belived the miners—Edward Heck, Charles Bashore and Peter Gordon— still were alive.

Lubis explained that the miners' escape was blocked by 75 feet of water which filled part of the working owned by the three men.

Rescue operations started late yesterday when the trio failed to appear at their homes.

Anti-Noise Law Passed

COLUMBUS, May 13—The only way you can get away with an extra-loud horn toot in Columbus today is to get married.

Otherwise the city's new anti-noise ordinance will festoon you with cops.

The law, effective today, bans sound trucks and stationary loud speakers, and "laying on the horn."

However, the strings of tin cans and horn blasts associated with some wedding caravans are excepted and so are church bells, parade music, and emergency vehicles with sirens.

Saltcreek Class In Cincinnati

The senior class of Saltcreek Township school travelled on a two day tour of Cincinnati Monday and Tuesday.

While in Cincinnati, the students stayed at the Sinton hotel, visited such attractions in the city as Coney Island, the zoo, a ball game at Crosley Field between the Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia, and travelled to Covington, Kentucky, to view the huge Catholic cathedral there. The seniors paid for their own trip with class funds.

2 Frisco Cops Hurt In Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13—Two San Francisco police officers were shot and critically wounded today by three suspected dope peddlers who had kidnaped a drug company executive and his family.

Capt. James English, head of the inspectors bureau, left his hall of justice headquarters to direct personally a house to house "shakedown" of a residential district where the gunmen's getaway car was found.

Volume of sales Wednesday at the Pickaway County Livestock Association auctions took a dip this week when only 896 head were sold as compared to the 928 marketed last Wednesday.

Prices for choice grades of cattle, hogs and calves took a slight increase in Wednesday's transactions, while lesser grades were a trifle lower than last week's quotations.

The sale of cattle increased 48 head Wednesday with 194 marketed as compared to the 146 sold last Wednesday, and prices for the choice grade increased from $.50 to $1.

In the hog market, receipts remained the same Wednesday as last week's sale with 600 marketed. Prices for the best grade were quoted up $.75.

the farmer buys is 247 percent of their cost in 1910-1914. The cost of things the farmer sells is 168 percent of the average for the last 10 years. The 95-cent average price is divided by the 168 percent and multiplied by the 247 percent.

This figures to a parity price for corn of $1.40 a bushel under the new formula, compared to a March 15 parity price of $1.59 a bushel.

Committee figures show these other differences between the old and new system:

Wheat parity would drop from $2.18 to $1.79; rice would rise from $2.01 to $2.12; soybeans would rise from $2.37 to $2.44; hogs would jump from $18 to $18.40; beef from $13.40 to $16.00; veal calves from $16.70 to $18.10; lambs from $14.50 to $17.50; chickens from 28.2 cents to 29.9 cents; wool from 45.2 cents to 51.4 cents.

Probe Started As 3 Men Die In Blast

CHILLICOTHE, May 13—Investigation was pressed today into the death of three Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad trainmen when their locomotive exploded near here.

Engineer W. R. Terry and Brakeman W. C. Bush, both of Siloan, Ky., died early today. Fireman T. R. Lauter of Ironton died of burns a few hours after the explosion yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred just after the locomotive, pulling a string of coal cars, had passed through Chillicothe. The front of the engine was blown away and bits of metal were scattered over a half mile area.

A nearby resident, Dick Vincent, prevented another train from crashing into the wreckage by halting it with flares.

3 Miners Held In Coal Shaft

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 13—Rescue squads toiled frantically today to extricate three miners trapped 200 feet below the surface in an independent coal shaft near here.

State Trooper Carl Lubis said he belived the miners—Edward Heck, Charles Bashore and Peter Gordon— still were alive.

Lubis explained that the miners' escape was blocked by 75 feet of water which filled part of the working owned by the three men.

Rescue operations started late yesterday when the trio failed to appear at their homes.

Anti-Noise Law Passed

COLUMBUS, May 13—The only way you can get away with an extra-loud horn toot in Columbus today is to get married.

Otherwise the city's new anti-noise ordinance will festoon you with cops.

The law, effective today, bans sound trucks and stationary loud speakers, and "laying on the horn."

However, the strings of tin cans and horn blasts associated with some wedding caravans are excepted and so are church bells, parade music, and emergency vehicles with sirens.

Saltcreek Class In Cincinnati

The senior class of Saltcreek Township school travelled on a two day tour of Cincinnati Monday and Tuesday.

While in Cincinnati, the students stayed at the Sinton hotel, visited such attractions in the city as Coney Island, the zoo, a ball game at Crosley Field between the Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia, and travelled to Covington, Kentucky, to view the huge Catholic cathedral there. The seniors paid for their own trip with class funds.

2 Frisco Cops Hurt In Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13—Two San Francisco police officers were shot and critically wounded today by three suspected dope peddlers who had kidnaped a drug company executive and his family.

Capt. James English, head of the inspectors bureau, left his hall of justice headquarters to direct personally a house to house "shakedown" of a residential district where the gunmen's getaway car was found.

the farmer buys is 247 percent of their cost in 1910-1914. The cost of things the farmer sells is 168 percent of the average for the last 10 years. The 95-cent average price is divided by the 168 percent and multiplied by the 247 percent.

This figures to a parity price for corn of $1.40 a bushel under the new formula, compared to a March 15 parity price of $1.59 a bushel.

Committee figures show these other differences between the old and new system:

Wheat parity would drop from $2.18 to $1.79; rice would rise from $2.01 to $2.12; soybeans would rise from $2.37 to $2.44; hogs would jump from $18 to $18.40; beef from $13.40 to $16.00; veal calves from $16.70 to $18.10; lambs from $14.50 to $17.50; chickens from 28.2 cents to 29.9 cents; wool from 45.2 cents to 51.4 cents.

Probe Started As 3 Men Die In Blast

CHILLICOTHE, May 13—Investigation was pressed today into the death of three Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad trainmen when their locomotive exploded near here.

Engineer W. R. Terry and Brakeman W. C. Bush, both of Siloan, Ky., died early today. Fireman T. R. Lauter of Ironton died of burns a few hours after the explosion yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred just after the locomotive, pulling a string of coal cars, had passed through Chillicothe. The front of the engine was blown away and bits of metal were scattered over a half mile area.

A nearby resident, Dick Vincent, prevented another train from crashing into the wreckage by halting it with flares.

WASHINGTON, May 13—Paul G. Hoffman may have his share of headaches in directing the American foreign aid program but he can relax now—the six-year-olds of his own home town are in his corner.

Nineteen first-graders of the South Bend, Ind., Colfax school, let the former Studebaker Motor president, named by President Truman to administer the multi-billion dollar European Recovery Program, know they are for him.

In letters penned in childish scrawl they are just learning, the youngsters offered ideas and pledged support. For example, Gloria Simmons wrote:

"Dear Mr. Hoffman: Are you giving the poor little girls any dolls? We would like to share our dolls with them. Don't get sick when you go on the boat."

BUT JOYCE Eisenhar had a somewhat different proposal. She said:

"Could you send the children that need help a cow? Please let us know how we can help. Colfax school wants to help."

Carmaleta Jones, signing her letter "your little helper," offered:

"I bet the President thinks you are a good man. You like children, don't you? I will help Dad grow onions and spinach so you will have enough to go around."

Joan Jack said:

"I am glad the President chose you to help the people of Europe. We have no garden but I will help by eating all of my food so I won't waste nothing. We say our prayers for you. I love you."

The letters were made public today out of the thousands of congratulatory messages received by Hoffman since he took office.

They were forwarded by School Principal Iva F. Newhard who wrote that the letters were part of a first grade class project.

Ohio Dairymen Increasing Herd Size, Output

COLUMBUS, May 13—Ohio dairy herds are getting bigger and milk production per cow is being increased, is the claim made by Guy W. Miller, specialist in farm management, Ohio State university, who says increases in milk production costs compel dairymen now to get more milk per hour of man labor than the 1929 dairymen had to get to make a profit.

Miller's recent Ohio farm records show 45.9 of all Ohio dairy cows now are in herd of 10 cows or larger; but, in 1929, only 25.4 percent of Ohio cows were in herds of that size.

Dairying has been abandoned on 20 percent of the farms where cows were milked in 1924 but there are 5 percent more cows on farms now than in that year.

Milk production per cow is 26 percent higher in Ohio now than it was in 1924, and the sales of whole milk from dairy farms in this state have gone up 165 percent in the last 25 years. Total milk production for Ohio is 32 percent higher than it was in 1924. In Mercer County, the amount of milk sold from farms now is 111 times as great as it was in 1919.

One major question overshadowed all others in the international sphere today, namely:

Will President Truman and Premier Marshal Stalin get together to discuss American-Soviet differences and if so how can such a conference be arranged and where?

In the exchange of views made public in Moscow, U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and Foreign Minister Molotov made themselves entirely clear to one another at their respective level.

It was conceded generally that the exchange at least has served to clear the air, and while only super-optimists foresee an immediate end to the "cold war" between East and West there are many persons including Pope Pius who see great hope for the future.

MUCH DEPENDS upon whether the Russians are willing to lose a little face by toning down their anti-Democratic propaganda as the first step in economic cooperation with the West.

Many observers with a completely realistic point of view long have believed that once the Marshall Plan and all its ramifications became fully effective, the Soviets will have to find some common ground.

She has been making many frantic trade deals with other countries in an effort to offset the unbalance inevitable when huge American sums and stores are poured into Europe.

Adolf Hitler subjected Germany to the same tightly controlled and hermetically-sealed economy as prevails in Russia. But before he blocked off his channels to American and British resources his shrewd economists obtained huge American and British investments.

The backlog was so great that Douglas Miller, long the U. S. commercial attache in Berlin, estimated that the Nazi machine could function for a minimum of eight years from any given time even if completely isolated in the economic and financial field.

Russia, on the other hand, is still badly dislocated by her war losses and the costs of reconstruction regardless of what she received under lend-lease and the like. The coming months may necessitate a change in her attitude and a greater flexibility

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Jeb Had the Folks in Stitches!

At the Friday Night Social, Jeb Crowell had the audience in stitches—doing a take-off on the blustering character who belittles everybody and everything that isn't from his own home town.

Well, we can laugh at that sort of character because from where I sit, Americans are just the opposite. We like to boast a bit perhaps, about the paint job on the new barn, or the missus' style of cooking—but we aren't intolerant of people who don't think or act exactly the same way we do.

In our town, for instance: Some folks like band concerts, others don't—some families serve beer with dinner, others, buttermilk—and as for politics, there's plenty of healthy disagreement.

But when it comes to denying folks the right to think or act as they choose ... no, we're like you—we don't believe in it, whether it goes for serving beer, or speaking one's mind on public affairs.

State Educators Air Problems

RUSSELLS POINT, May 13—Representatives from five state universities and the University of Cincinnati met at Russells Point today for a two-day conference on the state's extended health education program.

The meeting is sponsored by the state departments of health, welfare and education. The only meeting scheduled for today was that of the state planning committee.

The conference proper gets under way tomorrow with a welcoming address by Education Director Clyde Hissong.

Also on the agenda for tomorrow are two general sessions and two panel discussions on special problems regarding the organization and administration of school health programs and on activities and plans of the university health committees.

PRESIDING over the general sessions will be Paul E. Landis, the education departments supervisor of health, physical education, recreation and safety, and Samuel Cooper, health coordinator from Bowling Green State university.

The panel discussions by the university health coordinators will be directed by P. C. Bechtel, Landis' assistant, and Joseph Trepp, associate professor of physical welfare at Ohio university.

Commencement exercises for the three graduating students are to be held in the school auditorium next Thursday at 8:15 p. m.

2 Divorce Suits Are Filed In Local Court

In one of two divorce suits placed on file in Pickaway County common pleas court, Harry L. Smith is seeking to end his two-year marriage to Marie Smith who is accused of gross neglect of duty.

Smith's petition states they were married April 11, 1946, in El Paso, Tex., and have no children as a result of their marriage.

The second suit was filed by Martha Jean Irvin against her husband, Thomas Irvin, who is currently serving out a term in the Ohio penitentiary for his conviction in a non-support case.

Her petition claims they were married Oct. 29, 1943, in Circleville and they are the parents of two children, age four and nine months.

While her petition is claiming non-support, Mrs. Irvin is asking the court to grant her custody of the children and equitable relief after the divorce has been granted.

Moscow Papers Silent On Talks

MOSCOW, May 13—Moscow newspapers published without comment today Secretary of State Marshall's statement that world issues must be solved in consultation with interested powers and not in any bilateral Russian-American talks.

Three quarters of the foreign news pages of both Izvestia, organ of the Kremlin, and Pravda, newspaper of the Communist Party, were filled with items pertaining to Soviet-American relations.

In addition to Marshall's statement, President Truman's announcement of Tuesday that there has been no change in U. S. policy toward Russia was published.

WHAT COMES NEXT?

THE government is very much in the position of the chap who took hold of the lion's tail. The railroads have been seized and the brotherhoods have yielded to court order to withhold their strike. Where do we go from here?

For purposes of bargaining with the brotherhoods the government is in very little better position than the railroad operators. Aside from its power of injunction to keep trains moving a while longer, about the only advantage the government has is that it is not bargaining with its own money.

A government mediation board already has examined the dispute, and its recommendations were rejected by the brotherhoods. Can it reverse itself and make now a more generous offer? If a settlement is achieved by offering a wage higher than the railroads were willing to pay, will the operators then be willing to take the roads back on such terms? Whatever their public expressions, most of the operators probably handed their roads over to the government with the sentiments of an automobile owner turning the wheel over to a back-seat driver.

But the government has proved that by utilizing whatever laws can be made to apply, and by acting forcefully, it can avert a strike. The people breathe easier.

HOUSES AND AUTOMOBILES

HOUSES, too few of them, and motor vehicles, too many of them crowding insufficient arteries, are the subjects on which the residents of American cities, both large and small, complain most frequently. A nation-wide study shows that poor housing and unsatisfactory traffic and transportation conditions are the most annoying problems of city dwellers.

The only exception was in towns of the smallest class surveyed, under 10,000 population, where the problem next in line to traffic was lack of playgrounds, parks and auditoriums, with housing pretty well down the list.

Numerous complaints of dirtiness and unsightliness were next in order.

Beside these major problems, such matters as high taxes, corrupt politics, crime control, poor schools, unemployment and youth delinquency paled almost to insignificance, so far as public reaction is concerned.

All of this might give a corrupt city government food for thought. As long as people can be kept worrying about housing and traffic jams, maybe they won't pay too much attention to city hall. Not, that is, until people start looking there for causes of the persistence of the major ills.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Lord Rothermere recently raised the question of more newsprint for Great Britain. Certainly one of the most serious shortages in all the world is that of paper. If the truth is to be known to the people, there should be a great many newspapers, magazines and all sorts of vehicles of expression.

The shortages of newsprint gives a tremendous advantage to those who are plentifully supplied, particularly governments, and handicaps those in the opposition. Lord Rothermere raised sharply the issue that if we wish to agitate for our theories of a free society in Europe, then the European newspapers, particularly the British, must have more newsprint.

Unfortunately, most of the newsprint today comes from Canada—one country. Newsprint from Finland and Scandinavia is scarce and the price is foul. Even the Canadian price is out of line and in the United States some newspapers are forced to buy in the black market at impossible prices to keep going at all. Some of the British newspapers own mills in Canada but they have no dollars to pay for what they get there. They criticize the American newspapers for using too much, but it seems that that is immaterial, for their complaint thus far has only been that they lack the dollars to buy in Canada. Now they expect to get the dollars from Paul Hoffman, head of ECA, alias ERP.

In a period of shortage, therefore, it will be the American dollars, taken from our taxes, that will produce an increased newsprint scarcity for the American newspaper. The increase for Great Britain from Canada and Newfoundland will be 33,000 tons per year, paid for out of ERP dollar balances, and while it is likely that American newspapers may not complain too much about that, there is a fear that this is only a beginning, with other ERP countries making similar demands. Americans would like to know precisely how these dollar balances, which we are handing to Europe as a gift, will be used.

In an official statement, Paul Hoffman "disclosed that figures obtained from official Canadian sources indicate newsprint production in Canada and Newfoundland during 1948 will be approximately 4,875,000 tons, of which 285,000 tons will be consumed in Canada. Shipments to the United States are expected to be 3,960,000 tons. The proposed shipments to the United Kingdom from Canada and Newfoundland will be about three percent of the Dominion's output for the next fiscal year."

It seems that much of this problem could be solved if the trade between Great Britain and Scandinavia could be stimulated by an exchange of British coal for Scandinavian pulpwood. England has a machine capacity to produce between 900,000 and 1,000,000 tons of newsprint annually. Of this capacity, about 700,000 tons is lying idle, because the British are unable to purchase pulpwood, which used to come mostly from Russia, Poland and Scandinavia.

It will be a serious mistake for Great Britain or any ERP country to use American money to compete with American newspapers for the supply of this essential but scarce commodity. It will create suspicion over all ERP arrangements. It is starting off with the wrong foot.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Gee, I hope I never grow up."

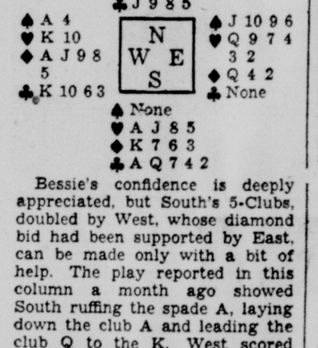
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WOES OF A BRIDGE MAN

WHENEVER a writer of bridge pulls a boner, such as reporting a card played to an early trick and then used again on a later one—and we all do it—his avalanche of mail shows how keen are his readers' minds. "I'm sure you will wish to correct yourself," writes one who should have said "kick yourself." Another says: "If you intended to start arguments with this hand, let me congratulate you on your overwhelming success. Bessie contends 5-Clubs could be made (because you said so), and I say it is impossible."



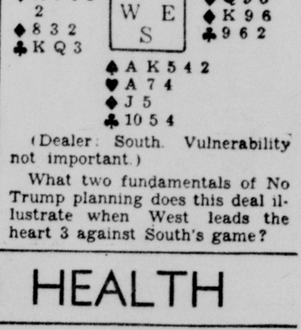
Bessie's confidence is deeply appreciated, but South's 5-Clubs, doubled by West, whose diamond bid had been supported by East, can be made only with a bit of help. The play reported in this column a month ago showed South ruffing the spade A, laying down the club A and leading the club Q to the K. West scored the diamond A and returned the 8 to the K. The club 2 was led for a finesse of the 9, the spade 3 was ruffed with the club 7 to establish the suit. Now, we reported, although South had already used five spades, "the club 4 to the J cleared trumps" and spades were run plus the heart A.

In so many words, we had South using the club 4 twice—quite a stunt if a sleight of hand expert could get away with it, and his opponents not recognize the second appearance of that important little card.

Here's hoping the mental exercise of conscientious readers was beneficial enough to offset their other feelings over this funny quirk of the mind—or what stands in lieu thereof. Practically every letter had something nice to say, such as "I read your articles every day and enjoy them immensely." With thanks for those bouquets, we hope our confession will be good for the souls of those real fans.

One of them signing "Yours for More Trumps," says: "The hand could be made if South plays the club Q on the first trick, leads a small club and finds a West helpful enough to cover with the K or willing to let three rounds of trumps go by; spades could be established by making West trump, and North could be put back to run them by ruffing a heart or diamond."

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Vulnerability not important.)

What two fundamentals of No Trump planning does this deal illustrate when West leads the heart 3 against South's game?

Symptoms of Sinus Trouble Need a Specialist's Care

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NO matter how ornamental it may happen to be, the nose, like every other part of the body, has work to do. Its duty, which it shares with the sinuses or air spaces in the bones of the face, is to warm and cleanse the air which we breathe.

Most people believe that mucus is present in the nose and sinuses only when infection is present, but this is not true. The normal healthy lining membrane of both sinuses and nose secrete mucus under ordinary conditions and, indeed, this is an important part of their function because it helps to keep the upper breathing passages moist and prevents drying.

Lining Membranes

On the surface of the lining membranes are tiny hair-like structures known as cilia which move back and forth and keep the mucous covering in motion. This moving coating of mucus helps keep the sinuses clean and carries off germs. The action of the cilia is stopped by dryness.

Unfortunately, the sinuses themselves often become infected. A discharge of a thick type from the nose usually means infection of the sinuses with germs. If the sinuses become inflamed because of allergy or sensitivity, there is usually a thin watery discharge from the nose.

Sinus Infection

Many people complain of a dripping from the nose into the back part of the throat. In many instances, this is due to sinus infection. However, it has been pointed out that there are a number of other things which may be responsible for changes in the nose and sinuses, such as overeating, excessive smoking and drinking, and improper ventilation.

Air that is too warm and contains too little moisture is another contributing cause. All of these things, then, may contribute to the development of dripping into the throat from the nose. This is called postnasal discharge.

Generalized Headache

Many people think that sinus infection is a common cause for generalized headache, but the pain in sinus infection is more often restricted to the area just over the affected sinus.

If the frontal sinuses, which are located in the forehead, are affected, the pain is in the front part of the head, just above the eyes. The pain is usually worse in the morning and gets better during the day.

The maxillary sinuses are located in the cheeks. Infection here causes pain in the face which usually occurs several hours after arising. The pain may also pass upward over the eyes, and may be located along the upper gum or teeth margins, so that the patient often thinks that he has some trouble with the teeth.

Produce Pain

When infected, the sphenoid sinuses, which are located further back in the head, produce pain in the back part of the head.

When the ethmoid sinuses, located over the eyes, are infected, they cause a feeling of tightness and pain across the bridge of the nose, and between and above the eyes.

A thorough study by a nose and throat specialist is advisable when sinus infection is suspected. The treatment will depend upon the type of infection present.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

T. S.: What is the cause for repeated sore throat?

Answer: Sore throat is due to an infection. Just why some persons are more susceptible to sore throat than others cannot be stated. The use of the sulfonamide preparations as a preventive might be considered. It is suggested that you discuss this matter with your physician.

Up to a morning the weatherman had warned would be cold, but wasn't. Checked the barometer and found it steady, so gave not too much thought to an overcast sky. Good growing weather, good planting weather. The countryside a scene of intense activity. No farmers in the ville except for urgently needed supplies. Noted again the beauty of the scene to the west along the river and then went inside for the first of the day's succession of coffees. Ray Bales told me of his Summer vacation plans. Soon to leave for the Carolina mountains where country cured ham and eggs are served for breakfast and fried chicken for dinner 365 days a year. Ferd Martin took an automatic pistol along on a mushroom hunt. No, one does not have to shoot them. Ferd expected to get in some target practice between finds. And he did. One shot went through his shoe, grazing his great toe. Stung so much he thought he had been hit until he took off the shoe and inspected the tingling foot.

Here's my nomination for the biggest lie of the year. Joe Rooney said he found a mushroom so large that its shadow alone weighed 18 pounds. Jim Arledge rescued a setting of black pheasant eggs from a field fire and placed them under one of his ambitious hens, looking forward to their hatching with great interest. Then, along came a fox. Some mighty nice people in this world. As a matter of fact most of them are nice if the opportunity is provided. Saturday night the ville was without water while repairs were being made to the main line. Water storage was needed. Bill Spence, of New Kensington, Pa., was in town to pick up a load of milk for transport east. Heard about the need and offered the use of his truck. It was filled with 2,500 gallons of water and parked overnight at the fire station. Ready for transport anywhere it might be needed.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

"CIGARETTE?"

"Thank you."

Alec snapped on the lighter and held it for Anne. Then he went back to the wing chair, settled in it and blew a cloud of smoke into the air between them.

"Well! Now we must make plans, I suppose, mustn't we?"

Anne nodded.

She was conscious of a deep, sick sense of bewilderment and disappointment. Something was missing. Alec was too brisk, too casual. The promise that had been implicit in every word and touch and look downstairs was not being fulfilled. He was too far away. He had come back to her, yet he was still far away. Was he holding himself there on purpose?

She said, her wide-spaced brown eyes open and fearless, "We don't have to make them yet, though, if you'd rather wait."

He looked at her for a moment, then his answer came. Carefully, she thought. Too carefully.

"It isn't a question of whether I'd rather wait. It's whether you would. It's up to you. It's all entirely up to you."

She could feel her hands growing cold, and, childishly, she tucked them under her and sat on them.

"What's up to me, Alec," she asked.

He blew another cloud of smoke into the air between them. But through it she could see him clearly. His long, graceful figure in his dark, blue uniform, his brown wavy hair, his blue eyes, his face. It wasn't the face she remembered, though. It wasn't now alive and alight with laughter and fun. It was tense. It was watchful. It was—uneasy.

"What's up to me?" she repeated, clearly. "Let's begin things straight. Let's understand each other from the start. Something's on your mind. Something's—different. What is it?"

She was holding herself to composure, trying to make it easy for him, whatever it was. And it should be easy, too, he thought, watching her. If she was going to be this way, cool and calm, it should be much easier than he had anticipated. Even so, he approached the matter with indirection.

He said, "John tells me you love Stone House."

She nodded. "Very much. I did right from the first minute."

"You have put roots down, John says."

She nodded again. "I belong here," she told him simply. "I can't explain it. But—well—I belong here. That's all."

He looked at the glowing tip of his cigarette. "You would rather stay on here than go anywhere else?"

She nodded, her face eager, as light seemed to break on her. "I don't mind not having my own home right away, Alec. Is that what's troubling you? But I don't mind that in the least! I love this old house. And this little apartment. I think it's sweet. We can be alone up here most of the time. We'll have a lot of privacy. Anyway, I get along with your family all right. I like them. Julia offered me the guest house but of course John has to have that. I thought——" Her voice trailed away. She had thought that until children came this would be quite perfect. Only she could not speak to him of children when he had not even kissed her, when he sat there, remote and alien. Through her own thoughts she heard his voice.

"The point is, that as the wife of a Navy man you couldn't stay here, or anywhere. Not long."

"You mean——"

"I'm staying in the Navy, Anne."

She could not quite take this in. It was incredible. It was something that had not for a moment occurred to her as even a faint possibility. He had never mentioned such a thought. She felt stunned by it now. At last she said, stupidly, "When?"

"A month or so ago. When I was in Hawaii." He reached forward and killed his cigarette in a little dish. And now his face was alive at last. But not with fun and laughter even yet. With passion and anger and defiance. "I had to! I tell you I couldn't risk being snared here! Because that's the way I feel about it. I don't want to be tied down. I like roaming the world! It means as much to me as staying put does to you. You needn't look like that, either. I can't help it, I tell you! That's the way I'm made."

"You never said——"

"No, I never said! I didn't know it so definitely when I met you! I wasn't thinking about the future, then, either. Why should I? The war was still on. And the end of it looked a long way off." He was on his feet, pacing up and down the room, gesticulating vehemently. "What did we talk about, anyway? Can you remember?"

She shook her head. Love. That's all. Just love.

"Well——" He stopped his walking and went back to the wing chair and faced her once again, his blue eyes very bright and intent. "Well, now you know."

"Yes. Now I know."

There was a silence. He seemed to be waiting for her to say something. But she couldn't think what to say. This made everything so different. She would have t have time to get used to what it meant. What did it mean, anyway? No Stone House, of course. No putting roots down here. Or anywhere else, for that matter. Not as long as she was young. Maybe not as long as she lived. No owning anything—ever. Just renting. Or living on Government property. Lighting like a bird for a little while here and there. Maybe liking the place. Maybe not. Pretending to like it, anyway. Getting used to it. Then pulling up stakes and pretending to like something else somewhere else.

And children. How could you bring up children that way? Oh, women did, of course! But——

"But I don't want to. It goes against everything in me. And that's the way I'm made."

She thought that, but she didn't say it. She just sat there, looking at him and not seeing him.

"Does it matter?" he asked her presently.

She blinked and came back to him. He was still watching her, waiting for her to speak, an odd restraint in his waiting.

She said suddenly, "Do you realize you haven't kissed me yet?"

He looked startled. Then he laughed. "Well! That's easy." And he was out of his chair and drawing her up into his arms.

But I had to tell him, she thought. She thought that all through the wild flurry of her senses as his lips came down on hers. She thought it with anger and regret and pain. And then she thought how amazing it was that she could think at a moment like this.

She pulled away slowly and looked up at him.

"Alec."

"Yes?"

She shook her head. "I don't know how you feel—what you want me to say, I mean, but I——"

"You what?"

"I want—time."

"Time?"

"Yes. To think things over."

"To decide whether you love me or Stone House more?"

"That's not exactly it——"

"It sounds that way."

He was standing just two feet from her, his head thrown back, his blue eyes bright on her. It was a familiar pose. She could remember that he had looked like that in Hawaii, urgent, imperious, making her settle things in a hurry, ready to start a quarrel and end their engagement if she didn't.

He said, "Lookit! I'm home for a week. I thought we'd get married in that week and then, when my orders came, we'd be ready to hop."

She put one hand to her throat. "I—I don't know, Alec."

His brows came together. "If you still love me—— Or maybe you don't?"

"It isn't that." She felt panic rising in her. "It's leaving here. Never knowing any home. Knowing I never will! Knowing I'll just go batting around the world. It's too new a thought. You must let me——" She stopped. "Alec."

"What?"

She said uncertainly, reaching for any straw, "Couldn't I—stay here? Couldn't you go and—and—come back to me whenever you could?"

"What kind of a marriage would that be?" His voice was impatient.

She hurried on. "I only meant this first time. Till I—till I could get used——"

"Definitely no. And that's flat."

WHAT COMES NEXT?

THE government is very much in the position of the chap who took hold of the lion's tail. The railroads have been seized and the brotherhoods have yielded to court order to withhold their strike. Where do we go from here?

For purposes of bargaining with the brotherhoods the government is in very little better position than the railroad operators. Aside from its power of injunction to keep trains moving a while longer, about the only advantage the government has is that it is not bargaining with its own money.

A government mediation board already has examined the dispute, and its recommendations were rejected by the brotherhoods. Can it reverse itself and make now a more generous offer? If a settlement is achieved by offering a wage higher than the railroads were willing to pay, will the operators then be willing to take the roads back on such terms? Whatever their public expressions, most of the operators probably handed their roads over to the government with the sentiments of an automobile owner turning the wheel over to a back-seat driver.

But the government has proved that by utilizing whatever laws can be made to apply, and by acting forcefully, it can avert a strike. The people breathe easier.

HOUSES AND AUTOMOBILES

HOUSES, too few of them, and motor vehicles, too many of them crowding insufficient arteries, are the subjects on which the residents of American cities, both large and small, complain most frequently. A nation-wide study shows that poor housing and unsatisfactory traffic and transportation conditions are the most annoying problems of city dwellers.

The only exception was in towns of the smallest class surveyed, under 10,000 population, where the problem next in line to traffic was lack of playgrounds, parks and auditoriums, with housing pretty well down the list.

Numerous complaints of dirtiness and unsightliness were next in order.

Beside these major problems, such matters as high taxes, corrupt politics, crime control, poor schools, unemployment and youth delinquency paled almost to insignificance, so far as public reaction is concerned.

All of this might give a corrupt city government food for thought. As long as people can be kept worrying about housing and traffic jams, maybe they won't pay too much attention to city hall. Not, that is, until people start looking there for causes of the persistence of the major ills.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Lord Rothermere recently raised the question of more newsprint for Great Britain. Certainly one of the most serious shortages in all the world is that of paper. If the truth is to be known to the people, there should be a great many newspapers, magazines and all sorts of vehicles of expression.

The shortages of newsprint gives a tremendous advantage to those who are plentifully supplied, particularly governments, and handicaps those in the opposition. Lord Rothermere raised sharply the issue that if we wish to agitate for our theories of a free society in Europe, then the European newspapers, particularly the British, must have more newsprint.

Unfortunately, most of the newsprint today comes from Canada—one country. Newsprint from Finland and Scandinavia is scarce and the price is foul. Even the Canadian price is out of line and in the United States some newspapers are forced to buy in the black market at impossible prices to keep going at all. Some of the British newspapers own mills in Canada but they have no dollars to pay for what they get there. They criticize the American newspapers for using too much, but it seems that that is immaterial, for their complaint thus far has only been that they lack the dollars to buy in Canada. Now they expect to get the dollars from Paul Hoffman, head of ECA, alias ERP.

In a period of shortage, therefore, it will be the American dollars, taken from our taxes, that will produce an increased newsprint scarcity for the American newspaper. The increase for Great Britain from Canada and Newfoundland will be 33,000 tons per year, paid for out of ERP dollar balances, and while it is likely that American newspapers may not complain too much about that, there is a fear that this is only a beginning, with other ERP countries making similar demands. Americans would like to know precisely how these dollar balances, which we are handing to Europe as a gift, will be used.

In an official statement, Paul Hoffman "disclosed that figures obtained from official Canadian sources indicate newsprint production in Canada and Newfoundland during 1948 will be approximately 4,875,000 tons, of which 285,000 tons will be consumed in Canada. Shipments to the United States are expected to be 3,960,000 tons. The proposed shipments to the United Kingdom from Canada and Newfoundland will be about three percent of the Dominion's output for the next fiscal year."

It seems that much of this problem could be solved if the trade between Great Britain and Scandinavia could be stimulated by an exchange of British coal for Scandinavian pulpwood. England has a machine capacity to produce between 900,000 and 1,000,000 tons of newsprint annually. Of this capacity, about 700,000 tons is lying idle, because the British are unable to purchase pulpwood, which used to come mostly from Russia, Poland and Scandinavia.

It will be a serious mistake for Great Britain or any ERP country to use American money to compete with American newspapers for the supply of this essential but scarce commodity. It will create suspicion over all ERP arrangements. It is starting off with the wrong foot.

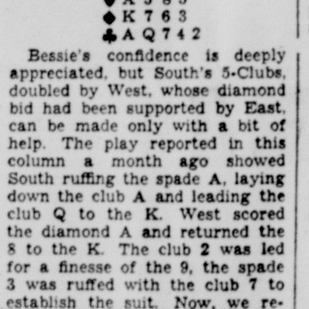
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WOES OF A BRIDGE MAN

WHENEVER a writer of bridge pulls a boner, such as reporting a card played to an early trick and then used again on a later one—and we all do it—his avalanche of mail shows how keen are his readers' minds. "I'm sure you will wish to correct yourself," writes one who should have said "kick yourself." Another says: "If you intended to start arguments with this hand, let me congratulate you on your overwhelming success. Bessie contends 5-Clubs could be made (because you said so), and I say it is impossible."



Bessie's confidence is deeply appreciated, but South's 5-Clubs, doubled by West, whose diamond bid had been supported by East, can be made only with a bit of help. The play reported in this column a month ago showed South ruffing the spade A, laying down the club A and leading the club Q to the K. West scored the diamond A and returned the 8 to the K. The club 2 was led for a finesse of the 9, the spade 3 was ruffed with the club 7 to establish the suit. Now, we reported, although South had already used five spades, "the club 4 to the J cleared trumps" and spades were run plus the heart A.

In so many words, we had South using the club 4 twice—quite a stunt if a sleight of hand expert could get away with it, and his opponents not recognize the second appearance of that important little card.

Here's hoping the mental exercise of conscientious readers was beneficial enough to offset their other feelings over this funny quirk of the mind—or what stands in lieu thereof. Practically every letter had something nice to say, such as "I read your articles every day and enjoy them immensely." With thanks for those bouquets, we hope our confession will be good for the souls of those real fans.

One of them signing "Yours for More Trumps," says: "The hand could be made if South plays the club Q on the first trick, leads a small club and finds a West helpful enough to cover with the K or willing to let three rounds of trumps go by; spades could be established by making West trump, and North could be put back to run them by ruffing a heart or diamond."

Tomorrow's Problem

What two fundamentals of No Trump planning does this deal illustrate when West leads the heart 3 against South's game?

"CIGARETTE?"

"Thank you."

Alec snapped on the lighter and held it for Anne. Then he went back to the wing chair, settled in it and blew a cloud of smoke into the air between them.

"Well! Now we must make plans, I suppose, mustn't we?"

Anne nodded.

She was conscious of a deep, sick sense of bewilderment and disappointment. Something was missing. Alec was too brisk, too casual. The promise that had been implicit in every word and touch and look downstairs was not being fulfilled. He was too far away. He had come back to her, yet he was still far away. Was he holding himself there on purpose?

She said, her wide-spaced brown eyes open and fearless, "We don't have to make them yet, though, if you'd rather wait."

He looked at her for a moment, then his answer came. Carefully, she thought. Too carefully.

"It isn't a question of whether I'd rather wait. It's whether you would. It's up to you. It's all entirely up to you."

She could feel her hands growing cold, and, childishly, she tucked them under her and sat on them.

"What's up to me, Alec," she asked.

He blew another cloud of smoke into the air between them. But through it she could see him clearly. His long, graceful figure in his dark, blue uniform, his brown wavy hair, his blue eyes, his face. It wasn't the face she remembered, though. It wasn't now alive and alight with laughter and fun. It was tense. It was watchful. It was—uneasy.

"What's up to me?" she repeated, clearly. "Let's begin things straight. Let's understand each other from the start. Something's on your mind. Something's—different. What is it?"

She was holding herself to composure, trying to make it easy for him, whatever it was. And it should be easy, too, he thought, watching her. If she was going to be this way, cool and calm, it should be much easier than he had anticipated. Even so, he approached the matter with indirection.

He said, "John tells me you love Stone House."

She nodded. "Very much. I did right from the first minute."

"You have put roots down, John says."

She nodded again. "I belong here," she told him simply. "I can't explain it. But—well—I belong here. That's all."

He looked at the glowing tip of his cigarette. "You would rather stay on here than go anywhere else?"

She nodded, her face eager, as light seemed to break on her. "I don't mind not having my own home right away, Alec. Is that what's troubling you? But I don't mind that in the least! I love this old house. And this little apartment. I think it's sweet. We can be alone up here most of the time. We'll have a lot of privacy. Anyway, I get along with your family all right. I like them. Julia offered me the guest house but of course John has to have that. I thought——" Her voice trailed away. She had thought that until children came this would be quite perfect. Only she could not speak to him of children when he had not even kissed her, when he sat there, remote and alien. Through her own thoughts she heard his voice.

"The point is, that as the wife of a Navy man you couldn't stay here, or anywhere. Not long."

"You mean——"

"I'm staying in the Navy, Anne."

She could not quite take this in. It was incredible. It was something that had not for a moment occurred to her as even a faint possibility. He had never mentioned such a thought. She felt stunned by it now. At last she said, stupidly, "When?"

"A month or so ago. When I was in Hawaii." He reached forward and killed his cigarette in a little dish. And now his face was alive at last. But not with fun and laughter even yet. With passion and anger and defiance. "I had to! I tell you I couldn't risk being snared here! Because that's the way I feel about it. I don't want to be tied down. I like roaming the world! It means as much to me as staying put does to you. You needn't look like that, either. I can't help it, I tell you! That's the way I'm made."

"You never said——"

"No, I never said! I didn't know it so definitely when I met you! I wasn't thinking about the future, then, either. Why should I? The war was still on. And the end of it looked a long way off." He was on his feet, pacing up and down the room, gesticulating vehemently. "What did we talk about, anyway? Can you remember?"

She shook her head. Love. That's all. Just love.

"Well——" He stopped his walking and went back to the wing chair and faced her once again, his blue eyes very bright and intent. "Well, now you know."

"Yes. Now I know."

There was a silence. He seemed to be waiting for her to say something. But she couldn't think what to say. This made everything so different. She would have t have time to get used to what it meant. What did it mean, anyway? No Stone House, of course. No putting roots down here. Or anywhere else, for that matter. Not as long as she was young. Maybe not as long as she lived. No owning anything—ever. Just renting. Or living on Government property. Lighting like a bird for a little while here and there. Maybe liking the place. Maybe not. Pretending to like it, anyway. Getting used to it. Then pulling up stakes and pretending to like something else somewhere else.

And children. How could you bring up children that way? Oh, women did, of course! But——

"But I don't want to. It goes against everything in me. And that's the way I'm made."

She thought that, but she didn't say it. She just sat there, looking at him and not seeing him.

"Does it matter?" he asked her presently.

She blinked and came back to him. He was still watching her, waiting for her to speak, an odd restraint in his waiting.

She said suddenly, "Do you realize you haven't kissed me yet?"

He looked startled. Then he laughed. "Well! That's easy." And he was out of his chair and drawing her up into his arms.

But I had to tell him, she thought. She thought that all through the wild flurry of her senses as his lips came down on hers. She thought it with anger and regret and pain. And then she thought how amazing it was that she could think at a moment like this.

She pulled away slowly and looked up at him.

"Alec."

"Yes?"

She shook her head. "I don't know how you feel—what you want me to say, I mean, but I——"

"You what?"

"I want—time."

"Time?"

"Yes. To think things over."

"To decide whether you love me or Stone House more?"

"That's not exactly it——"

"It sounds that way."

He was standing just two feet from her, his head thrown back, his blue eyes bright on her. It was a familiar pose. She could remember that he had looked like that in Hawaii, urgent, imperious, making her settle things in a hurry, ready to start a quarrel and end their engagement if she didn't.

He said, "Lookit! I'm home for a week. I thought we'd get married in that week and then, when my orders came, we'd be ready to hop."

She put one hand to her throat. "I—I don't know, Alec."

His brows came together. "If you still love me—— Or maybe you don't?"

"It isn't that." She felt panic rising in her. "It's leaving here. Never knowing any home. Knowing I never will! Knowing I'll just go batting around the world. It's too new a thought. You must let me——" She stopped. "Alec."

"What?"

She said uncertainly, reaching for any straw, "Couldn't I—stay here? Couldn't you go and—and—come back to me whenever you could?"

"What kind of a marriage would that be?" His voice was impatient.

She hurried on. "I only meant this first time. Till I—till I could get used——"

"Definitely no. And that's flat."

LESSON IN AMERICANISM

Virginia Farmer Helping 'Delayed Pioneer' Quartet

VIENNA, Va., May 13—This is the story of the Virginia gentleman and the four displaced persons.

Or, if you prefer, it's the story of a real American and four delayed pioneers.

In any case, it's a story that revives the old feeling that you always had about this country, until a few stupid snobs, by virtue of the accident of birth, started in trying to—but enough of that for now!

Let's get on with the story.

Paul E. Rhinehart, who lives at nearby Peacock Station, Va., is a 76-year-old Virginia gentlemen—and you can spell that word "gentleman" with capitals.

He is a tall, lean, white-haired citizen who wouldn't have to join any organizations or make any speeches to prove he was an American. Not now, at least.

HE HAS a ~~600~~-acre farm up here in Northern Virginia. It isn't just a hobby with him. He's a farmer. If you've been born on a farm, you can tell those things.

He doesn't talk a whole lot, and when he does have something to say, it's usually expressed with old-fashioned phrases. Maybe the words he uses easily—words like "hope" and "humanity"—wouldn't be considered such hot repartee at the Stork Club or a Washington cocktail party, but under the circumstances they'll do.

Several months ago, thinking in terms of such words as those, he decided he wanted to do something to help out some of the homeless refugees of Europe. The Stratton Bill for letting in a lot of Europe's displaced persons was being kicked around in Congress at the time.

"But we decided to get ahead of Congress," Rhinehart says. "If we're really going to build a new world, we're going to have to put hope back into humanity."

He figured he could make a place for some European homeless, right away.

Because he knew of their work, he contacted the Catholic Charities of Northern Virginia and outlined his plan. They passed him on to the Catholic Committee for Refugees in New York. They understood and went to work, but it took a while for things to work out.

Meanwhile, behind the barbed wire of a displaced persons camp in Salzburg, Austria, the Zielezinski family was living—35-year-old Marian, 23-year-old Irma, and their two baby boys, Marian Jr., and Stanislaw, both of whom were born in that same camp where their parents spent their "honeymoon," some three years ago.

NATIVES of Poland, the Zielezinski's originally were farm people. But in German slave camps and in Russian slave camps they had done what they had to do—and it actually was in a factory in Salzburg that they first met. And after they met, were liberated and married, they spent their "'freedom" in a DP camp.

They had just about given up hope of ever living a really free life on a farm again. Then word came from America.

Last Saturday afternoon, the Zielezinski family arrived at the Rhinehart place, carrying their total belongings in two suitcases.

Those belongings looked sort of lost in the five-room house that Rhinehart turned over to them, rent-free, but there was furniture there and soon there'll be other things. He's also given them a vegetable garden, and offered them $100 a month in addition to help around the place right now. Later?

"Well, I haven't had a chance to talk to them yet," Rhinehart says. "But they can rent, if they want to, or maybe take the whole place over. We'll work it out."

The only reason he hasn't "had a chance to talk to them" is that he and they don't speak the same language—vocally, that is. But in their hearts they understand that they have a home, and the Virginia gentleman wouldn't embarrass them by admitting the language difficulties.

A lot of Americans hope a few of those snobs, who recently have been given this country a bad name with their talk about refusing admission to refugees, finally will wake up and realize what real Americanism means. Paul Rhinehart knows.

TO THOSE CONTEMPLATING THE PURCHASE OF GAS SPACE HEATING EQUIPMENT

The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is compelled to enforce restrictions on Gas Space Heating

The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is operating under orders of The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio relative to the connection of additional gas space heating jobs to our lines. These orders were upheld by a decision of the Supreme Court of Ohio.

Any installations of gas space heating equipment, other than replacement of existing gas space heating equipment of the same capacity at the same location, must be with the written consent of The Ohio Fuel Gas Company. We are obligated by law to request disconnection of any gas space heating equipment installed without such written permission and to discontinue ALL gas service to the premises when the customer does not comply.

Applications for additional gas space heating under the Supplemental Order of The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, April 1, 1948, received through April 30, exceed the limited amount of gas available for space heating purposes. These applications are now being processed and written approvals or rejections will be mailed applicants as soon as possible.

Artificial Breeding Spreading

608 Units Formed In 10 Years

Since the first artificial-breeding association for dairy cows was organized 10 years ago, the number of associations has increased to 608, and an estimate shows approximately 1,700,000 cows enrolled in 1947.

Successful Farming magazine gives the following as the most important reasons for the popularity of this method of breeding: Gives farmers use of better sires; improves fertility of dairy herds; costs less than maintaining a bull; ends risk of personal injury.

Superior sires are scarce and command prices beyond the reach of average dairy farmers. In the case of small herds, the annual cost of service thru the association is often less than the maintenance cost of even a mediocre sire.

An expanded artificial-breeding program will lead to the adoption of improved feeding and management practices, and to improvements in the health and fertility of dairy herds. The association as well as the farmer is interested in performance records of the foundation cows and of each succeeding generation.

EIGHTY TO 90 percent of bulls required under the usual method of breeding can be eliminated, releasing labor, feed, special barn and lot equipment required to maintain a herd bull on the farm. Some of this released feed and space will be used to increase the cow herd, and tend to increase the output of dairy products.

The genetic make-up of heifers produced under this system will be a matter of record so that bred heifers can be bought for dairy-cow replacements with reasonable certainty as to the outcome. Also, the rate of replacement may be reduced somewhat due to improved health and fertility of dairy herds.

Continued expansion of the artificial breeding program may not be as rapid as it has been since the war. However, the long-run economic gains from this program are so significant it promises to become much more general that at present. Maximum expansion can be expected in concentrated dairy areas where a large proportion of heifer calves are developed for replacement purposes.

Childrens' Home Survey Report Is Due Friday

Pickaway County Childrens' Home committee will meet at 6 p. m. Friday in Betz restaurant to review a 30-page report on conditions at the childrens' home which was submitted Wednesday by the state department of public welfare.

The report was compiled by Miss Jane Stewart, district representative in Pickaway County, and Victor Foust of the division's children's service staff on a joint request from five local organizations.

Backing the request were Kiwanis, Rotary, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Business and Professional Women's Club and the Ministerial Association.

Report on the childrens' home will cover the period of Feb. 6 to April 9, 1948.

IN A RECENT speech before the Circleville Rotary Club, Miss Stewart told her audience conditions "are pretty bad" at the local institution.

The survey is a 30-page typewritten report covering all phases of existing conditions at the Home. While it is expected that the report will detail the public welfare's findings, the full text will not be released until Saturday, officials disclosed.

Counsel Needed To Cut Divorces

CLEVELAND, May 13 — Half of all American divorces, which reached a record high of 40 percent of all marriages in 1946, can be prevented by proper marriage counseling.

That was the opinion expressed last night by Dr. Hornell Hart, professor of sociology at Duke university, who spoke here at the annual meeting of the Maternal Health Association.

"You can't build a sound marriage unless the participants know each other before the die is cast," he said. "Certain things should be made clear. There should always be a plan concerning whether there are to be children."

Ferguson Irked By Builders

COLUMBUS, May 13 — State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson stood firmly at the barricades today, resisting an invasion that would take part of his office for an elevator for the house of representatives.

Cried Ferguson: "They will have to go to the supreme court."

The elevator is to run from the basement of the state house to the third floor. Ferguson charged:

"It's only for the convenience of lobbyists. For the last two weeks I have refused to let them in. They say they are coming over Monday to start work. They also are going to have to go the supreme court to pay the bill because they didn't let the contract to the lowest bidder."

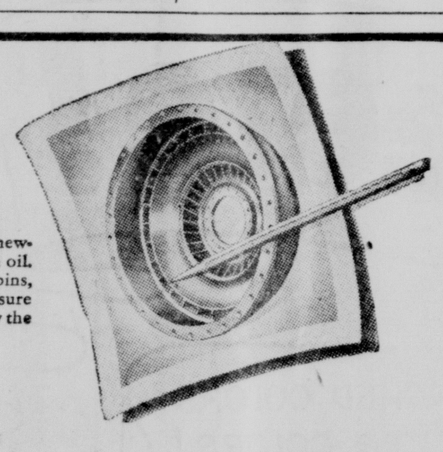
Here's the A-B-C of Dynaflow Drive*

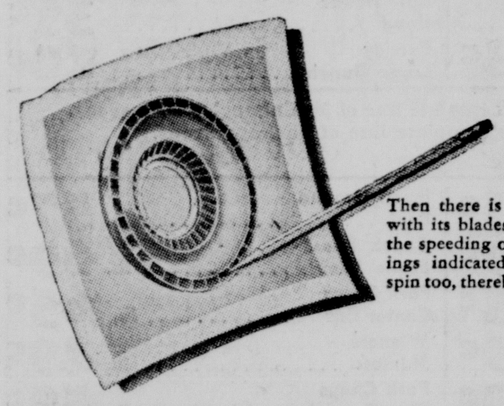
A

First, there's a highly efficient new-type pump like this, filled with oil. Driven by the engine, it spins, shooting out oil under pressure from the channels indicated by the pencil.



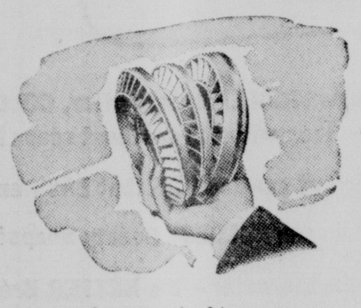
B

Then there is a true turbine, like this, with its blades curved sharply to catch the speeding oil. Entering in the openings indicated, oil makes the turbine spin too, thereby turning the rear wheels.



C

Finally, there is this unique "supercharging assembly" — three ingenious elements not found on any other car. Mounted between the pump and turbine, they control the force and direction of oil to adjust driving power to different driving conditions — starting, accelerating, hill climbing, etc.



*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

PUT all these together and they spell Dynaflow—the first American passenger car drive that requires no changing of gears in normal driving.

Functioning entirely on their own in an oil-filled drum, these parts give you the equivalent of low gear, second gear, high gear — and an infinite number of "gears" in between.

When you start, they give you smooth starting power. When you want to accelerate, they give accelerating power. When you cruise, they give an efficient cruising ratio —all without gear changing on your part.

Just set a lever and press the gas treadle—the power plant does the rest. Once started, you'll never need to touch the selector lever in normal driving until you're ready to park or back up.

You get good engine braking on hills—with more in reserve at a touch on the lever. You get smoothness unimaginable—a new "sweetness" to the whole car — a relief from things-to-remember that makes all-day driving noticeably less tiring.

Look into Dynaflow if for no other reason than to be up to date on what's newest in automobile drives. Your Buick dealer will take your order with or without a car to trade.

Artificial Breeding Spreading

608 Units Formed In 10 Years

Since the first artificial-breeding association for dairy cows was organized 10 years ago, the number of associations has increased to 608, and an estimate shows approximately 1,700,000 cows enrolled in 1947.

Successful Farming magazine gives the following as the most important reasons for the popularity of this method of breeding: Gives farmers use of better sires; improves fertility of dairy herds; costs less than maintaining a bull; ends risk of personal injury.

Superior sires are scarce and command prices beyond the reach of average dairy farmers. In the case of small herds, the annual cost of service thru the association is often less than the maintenance cost of even a mediocre sire.

An expanded artificial-breeding program will lead to the adoption of improved feeding and management practices, and to improvements in the health and fertility of dairy herds. The association as well as the farmer is interested in performance records of the foundation cows and of each succeeding generation.

EIGHTY TO 90 percent of bulls required under the usual method of breeding can be eliminated, releasing labor, feed, special barn and lot equipment required to maintain a herd bull on the farm. Some of this released feed and space will be used to increase the cow herd, and tend to increase the output of dairy products.

The genetic make-up of heifers produced under this system will be a matter of record so that bred heifers can be bought for dairy-cow replacements with reasonable certainty as to the outcome. Also, the rate of replacement may be reduced somewhat due to improved health and fertility of dairy herds.

Continued expansion of the artificial breeding program may not be as rapid as it has been since the war. However, the long-run economic gains from this program are so significant it promises to become much more general that at present. Maximum expansion can be expected in concentrated dairy areas where a large proportion of heifer calves are developed for replacement purposes.

Childrens' Home Survey Report Is Due Friday

Pickaway County Childrens' Home committee will meet at 6 p. m. Friday in Betz restaurant to review a 30-page report on conditions at the childrens' home which was submitted Wednesday by the state department of public welfare.

The report was compiled by Miss Jane Stewart, district representative in Pickaway County, and Victor Foust of the division's children's service staff on a joint request from five local organizations.

Backing the request were Kiwanis, Rotary, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Business and Professional Women's Club and the Ministerial Association.

Report on the childrens' home will cover the period of Feb. 6 to April 9, 1948.

IN A RECENT speech before the Circleville Rotary Club, Miss Stewart told her audience conditions "are pretty bad" at the local institution.

The survey is a 30-page typewritten report covering all phases of existing conditions at the Home. While it is expected that the report will detail the public welfare's findings, the full text will not be released until Saturday, officials disclosed.

Counsel Needed To Cut Divorces

CLEVELAND, May 13 — Half of all American divorces, which reached a record high of 40 percent of all marriages in 1946, can be prevented by proper marriage counseling.

That was the opinion expressed last night by Dr. Hornell Hart, professor of sociology at Duke university, who spoke here at the annual meeting of the Maternal Health Association.

"You can't build a sound marriage unless the participants know each other before the die is cast," he said. "Certain things should be made clear. There should always be a plan concerning whether there are to be children."

Jap Farmers Line Up To Buy Land

U.S. Reforms Give New Chance

MINAMI, Japan, May 13—Farmers of Japan are lining up hungrily to buy land made available to them for the first time in history through the American-sponsored land reform program.

They are going to get land because Americans are in Japan to see that they do.

Whether they will be able to keep it is a question of prime importance to the future of Japan internally and to the role of Japan in Asia and the world.

The traditionally powerful elements of Japan fear the land reform program as a direct blow to their influence.

They found it fairly simply to control peasants who face the constant threat of dispossession by landlords.

They fear a more economically secure peasantry may be more difficult to handle.

THE WEAPONS in the hands of the anti-reform forces are significant.

Big industry controls fertilizer production and prices.

Big landlords control forest land, untouched by the reform.

Big political leaders in Tokyo linked to the industrialists, and landlords in the "hidden government" behind what the Japanese call the "dark curtain" of obligation and obedience, control the tax rates. These can be used as a weapon against the development of independent farmers.

Even under the Americans, fertilizer prices are rising, taxes are rising and enforced rice collection quotas are rising.

Even under the Americans, there is talk among the farmers of "turning back the land to the government."

American military government teams are busy trying to keep this talk from developing into a movement which will wreck the land reform before it is given a fair trial.

The farmers say collection quotas and taxes are too high.

In this village of 6,700 people there are 840 farmers eligible to buy land under the reform program. There are 1,604.75 acres of land available for same to them.

THAT IS NOT enough to go around. A farmer can support a family of five on 2.45 acres of the very best farmland or 3.67 acres of average land.

Despite the shortage of land, almost every eligible farmer has applied to buy.

Applications were taken hamlet by hamlet, and in 20 instances commission members went to the hamlets because it would have been too difficult for the farmers to come in to the village to make application.

There are rumors that landlords are using their traditional power to force the tenants to buy land with the understanding it will be returned in time to the landlord or his friends. So far there has been no proof of this rumor.

'Baboon Boy' Dies At 40 In South Africa

LONDON, May 13—The death of South Africa's "baboon Boy"—who was belived to have been reared by a pack of fierce baboons—has been reported by The London Daily Mail.

The Mail, in a dispatch from Capetown, said that the "baboon Boy"—known only as Lucas—died at the age of 40 at a farm near Bathurst.

Lucas also developed a taste for cooked food, although his favorite dish remained live lizards.

Scientists believed that as a baby, he had been kidnapped by baboons in the Grahamstown area of South Africa.

Although unable to recall many details of his wild life, Lucas did remember eating crickets, ostrich eggs, and wild honey.

Jap Farmers Line Up To Buy Land

U.S. Reforms Give New Chance

MINAMI, Japan, May 13—Farmers of Japan are lining up hungrily to buy land made available to them for the first time in history through the American-sponsored land reform program.

They are going to get land because Americans are in Japan to see that they do.

Whether they will be able to keep it is a question of prime importance to the future of Japan internally and to the role of Japan in Asia and the world.

The traditionally powerful elements of Japan fear the land reform program as a direct blow to their influence.

They found it fairly simply to control peasants who face the constant threat of dispossession by landlords.

They fear a more economically secure peasantry may be more difficult to handle.

THE WEAPONS in the hands of the anti-reform forces are significant.

Big industry controls fertilizer production and prices.

Big landlords control forest land, untouched by the reform.

Big political leaders in Tokyo linked to the industrialists, and landlords in the "hidden government" behind what the Japanese call the "dark curtain" of obligation and obedience, control the tax rates. These can be used as a weapon against the development of independent farmers.

Even under the Americans, fertilizer prices are rising, taxes are rising and enforced rice collection quotas are rising.

Even under the Americans, there is talk among the farmers of "turning back the land to the government."

American military government teams are busy trying to keep this talk from developing into a movement which will wreck the land reform before it is given a fair trial.

The farmers say collection quotas and taxes are too high.

In this village of 6,700 people there are 840 farmers eligible to buy land under the reform program. There are 1,604.75 acres of land available for same to them.

THAT IS NOT enough to go around. A farmer can support a family of five on 2.45 acres of the very best farmland or 3.67 acres of average land.

Despite the shortage of land, almost every eligible farmer has applied to buy.

Applications were taken hamlet by hamlet, and in 20 instances commission members went to the hamlets because it would have been too difficult for the farmers to come in to the village to make application.

There are rumors that landlords are using their traditional power to force the tenants to buy land with the understanding it will be returned in time to the landlord or his friends. So far there has been no proof of this rumor.

Good Prices, Yields Type Prosperity

Economists Show Farm Profit Trend

COLUMBUS, May 13—Although farmers make every effort to increase crop yields per acre, rural economists at Ohio State university, point out that prosperity for farmers is due to a combination of good prices for their products and of good yields.

Farmers worry first about getting crops planted and harvested and, then they always have a background of anxiety about price until the product is sold.

The economists explain that prices for wheat jumped following the last two wars. One of the effects of high wheat prices is to induce increases in wheat acreages, and such an increase after World War I brought total wheat production to a point where there was more wheat for sale than there were market demands for that grain.

Records of grain prices show the average farm price for wheat in November, 1918, was $2.12 a bushel. The price started upward and reached $2.66 a bushel in June, 1920. With the new crop ready for harvest in 1920, wheat prices hit the toboggan and skidded to $1.08 a bushel by the end of 1921. Corn prices went from $1.93 a bushel in June, 1920, to 44 cents at the close of 1921.

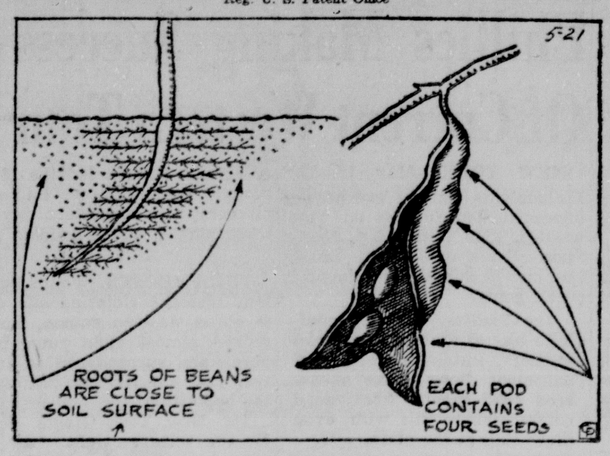
WHEAT PRICES in August, 1945, when World War II ended, were $1.54 a bushel but they rose to $2.91 a bushel in January, 1948. A break in grain prices occurred in February, 1948, and that loss was partially recovered in the months of March and April.

The economists say future wheat prices will depend upon the size of the present crop in this and in other nations and also upon demands for wheat here and abroad.

The U. S. April crop report estimated total 1948 production of Winter wheat at 22,000,000 bushels more than was estimated in the December report. Stocks of old wheat in the U. S. on April 1, 1948, were almost double those in storage a year earlier and were almost a third greater than the average stocks on April 1 for the past 10 years.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Reg. U. S. Patent Office



A Bean That Is Ornamental and Edible

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Distributed by Central Press Association

BETTER get acquainted with the bean you can admire for its ornamental usefulness and eat when it produces its edible fruits.

It is known as the Scarlet Runner bean and it is frequently grown for its handsome sprays of scarlet pea-shaped flowers alone.

It's really a utility plant for its rapid and abundant growth makes it useful for screening purposes on porches or fences, while at the same time it produces a plentiful supply of edible beans.

Seeds of the Scarlet Runner are grown three inches deep, either in single or double rows. Space the seeds four inches apart. Like all bean plants, the roots of the Scarlet Runner will be found to grow close to the surface of the soil, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Therefore, cultivate lightly to keep down the weeds for deep cultivation may injure the roots.

The bean pods of the Scarlet Runner are from three to six inches long. Each contains four seeds, as illustrated. These seeds are delicious if cooked when green. As they ripen, the seeds turn brown, red and black and thus lose their attractiveness for cooking purposes.

The pods can be used as well as the beans. Gather them when half grown for use as "snaps," which means to top and tail them. Remove the two outer ribs of the pods and then slice them into thin strips. Some gardeners pickle or salt down the sliced pods for winter use.

Handless Lad, 2, May Yet Receive Country Home

CLEVELAND, May 13—Little Tommy Herbert of Cleveland may yet get his home in the country.

Probate Judge Nelson J. Brewer has indicated he might approve such an expenditure from a sum of $70,000 awarded Tommy, now 2-½, who lost his hands under the wheels of a switch engine last Sept. 19.

Tommy was granted $52,500 from the New York Central system and $17,500 from General Motors Corp. He was injured when he wandered onto a New York Central spur track leading into GM's Fisher body plant in Cleveland.

An additional $10,000 went to the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Herbert. The father was named guardian of Tommy's funds under the court's supervision.

The country home was recommended by Tommy's lawyers, Ben Ledsky and M. L. Bernsteen, who said they had been told country life would be beneficial to the child's rehabilitation.

Good Prices, Yields Type Prosperity

Economists Show Farm Profit Trend

COLUMBUS, May 13—Although farmers make every effort to increase crop yields per acre, rural economists at Ohio State university, point out that prosperity for farmers is due to a combination of good prices for their products and of good yields.

Farmers worry first about getting crops planted and harvested and, then they always have a background of anxiety about price until the product is sold.

The economists explain that prices for wheat jumped following the last two wars. One of the effects of high wheat prices is to induce increases in wheat acreages, and such an increase after World War I brought total wheat production to a point where there was more wheat for sale than there were market demands for that grain.

Records of grain prices show the average farm price for wheat in November, 1918, was $2.12 a bushel. The price started upward and reached $2.66 a bushel in June, 1920. With the new crop ready for harvest in 1920, wheat prices hit the toboggan and skidded to $1.08 a bushel by the end of 1921. Corn prices went from $1.93 a bushel in June, 1920, to 44 cents at the close of 1921.

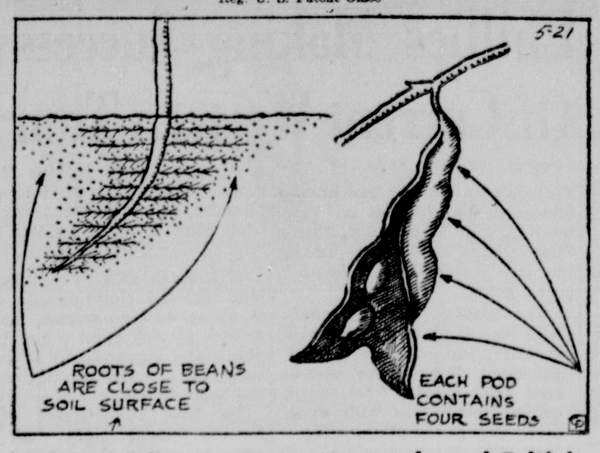
WHEAT PRICES in August, 1945, when World War II ended, were $1.54 a bushel but they rose to $2.91 a bushel in January, 1948. A break in grain prices occurred in February, 1948, and that loss was partially recovered in the months of March and April.

The economists say future wheat prices will depend upon the size of the present crop in this and in other nations and also upon demands for wheat here and abroad.

The U. S. April crop report estimated total 1948 production of Winter wheat at 22,000,000 bushels more than was estimated in the December report. Stocks of old wheat in the U. S. on April 1, 1948, were almost double those in storage a year earlier and were almost a third greater than the average stocks on April 1 for the past 10 years.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Reg. U. S. Patent Office



A Bean That Is Ornamental and Edible

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Distributed by Central Press Association

BETTER get acquainted with the bean you can admire for its ornamental usefulness and eat when it produces its edible fruits.

It is known as the Scarlet Runner bean and it is frequently grown for its handsome sprays of scarlet pea-shaped flowers alone.

It's really a utility plant for its rapid and abundant growth makes it useful for screening purposes on porches or fences, while at the same time it produces a plentiful supply of edible beans.

Seeds of the Scarlet Runner are grown three inches deep, either in single or double rows. Space the seeds four inches apart. Like all bean plants, the roots of the Scarlet Runner will be found to grow close to the surface of the soil, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Therefore, cultivate lightly to keep down the weeds for deep cultivation may injure the roots.

The bean pods of the Scarlet Runner are from three to six inches long. Each contains four seeds, as illustrated. These seeds are delicious if cooked when green. As they ripen, the seeds turn brown, red and black and thus lose their attractiveness for cooking purposes.

The pods can be used as well as the beans. Gather them when half grown for use as "snaps," which means to top and tail them. Remove the two outer ribs of the pods and then slice them into thin strips. Some gardeners pickle or salt down the sliced pods for winter use.

Handless Lad, 2, May Yet Receive Country Home

CLEVELAND, May 13—Little Tommy Herbert of Cleveland may yet get his home in the country.

Probate Judge Nelson J. Brewer has indicated he might approve such an expenditure from a sum of $70,000 awarded Tommy, now 2-½, who lost his hands under the wheels of a switch engine last Sept. 19.

Tommy was granted $52,500 from the New York Central system and $17,500 from General Motors Corp. He was injured when he wandered onto a New York Central spur track leading into GM's Fisher body plant in Cleveland.

An additional $10,000 went to the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Herbert. The father was named guardian of Tommy's funds under the court's supervision.

The country home was recommended by Tommy's lawyers, Ben Ledsky and M. L. Bernsteen, who said they had been told country life would be beneficial to the child's rehabilitation.

In Memoriam

Corporal Paul Melvin Styers died in the line of duty while serving his country on May 3, 1942. At the time of his death he was stationed at Fort Kobbe, Panama Canal Zone. He was born November 26, 1920 in Circleville, the son of Harry H. and Stella M. Shafer Styers, and departed this life at the age of 21 years 6 months and 23 days. Besides his parents he leaves 6 brothers and 3 sisters to mourn his passing.

Paul was a quiet boy of gentle disposition. He, with his shy smile was always ready to do more than his share in life. He is deeply missed by all those who knew and loved him.

His Captai wrote his mother these words in regard to his character.

"Corporal Styers was well-liked and respected by all the men of his organization as well as by his officers. He proved himself to be quick-witted, intelligent, and forthright in the performances of all his duties. His loss will be felt deeply from a personal viewpoint as well as a military viewpoint. I have every reason to believe that you may be very proud of your son as a man and a soldier."

He would not want the ones he loves
to grieve for him today;
We must not say that he is dead,
For he is just away—
Away upon a journey to a
land that's bright and fair;
And though we all will miss
him here. We know he's happy there
And memories of him will bring new comfort every day—
As we recall—he is not dead
For he is just away.

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all those who extended sympathy during our recent bereavement. We especially want to thank Rev. George Troutman for his consoling words. Mrs. Troutman for her lovely songs and Mr. Defenbaugh for his service. We wish also to thank all friends, neighbors and organizations who sent so many beautiful floral offerings. All was deeply appreciated by members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Styers and family

Phillies Making Success Of Current Western Tour

NEW YORK, May 13—The Philadelphia Phillies are having unprecedented success on their western tour while the East's "power" teams—Boston, Brooklyn, and New York have found it rocky going.

The Phillies, despite indefinite loss of their star veteran pitchers, Dutch Leonard and Schoolboy Rowe, have uncovered solid mound work and complemented this with even more skill at the plate.

Their 5-to-0 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates was a combination of hurling and hitting. Blix Donnelly really was spinning against the hard-hitting Bucs.

The Pirates managed only three hits off the stocky right-hander in their first 1948 shutout. Meanwhile, Rookie Outfielder Johnny Blatnik led the 13-hit assault against three Pirate pitchers with a perfect day — three singles and a double.

THE PHILLIES, in racking up four straight victories and five in seven western games, have scored almost eight runs per game and surrendered a fraction over one run per contest to the opposition.

The New York Giants, idled for the third straight day by rain, have won three and lost two. The Brooklyn Dodgers are a game under the .500 mark, and the Boston Braves are barely even.

The other half of the "Philadelphia Story," the Athletics continued along the victory trail with an 8-to-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Six runs in the second inning and relief work by Don Savage and Lou Brissie gave Connie Mack's boys their 10th straight win and a more secure hold on the American League lead.

The Chicago White Sox continue to lose. They did it the hard way yesterday. The last-place Chicagoans had a two-run lead in the 10th inning, but Bobby Doerr, Boston Red Sox second baseman, smashed a three-run homer high over the left-field wall to give Boston a 6-to-5 win.

It was Chicago's eighth straight loss with Reliever Earl Harrist being the victim of the game-winning drive.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 7, but the Reds gave Brooklyn a scare with a four-run outburst in the ninth. Hank Sauer, Cincinnati recruit outfielder, took over the National League homerun leadership with a three-run circuit clout in the ninth. It was Sauer's seventh homerun of the year.

The New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians attempted to play New York's first night game but were rained out at the end of three-and-half-innings. The Yanks were ahead, 3 to 1, by virtue of Joe DiMaggio's three-run homer.

The Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators staged as 27-hit donnybrook with the Tigers blasting out a 14-to-9 triumph.

Saltcreek Plans For District Meet

Several Saltcreek Township cindermen are to enter the Class B Central District meet to be held at Ohio Wesleyan university Saturday.

Superintendent Harold Strous of the Saltcreek school said Thursday he did not yet know which of the boys would participate in Saturday's events, but that the Pickaway County track meet which was to have been held at Walnut Township school Thursday afternoon would decide.

Other schools entered in the Saturday meet are Brown Township, Tully Township, Richwood, Caledonia, Granville, Utica, Washington, Marysville, Groveport, Columbus Rosary, Gahanna Lincoln and Canal Winchester.

Ashville Drops Tourney Game

Ashville high school's baseball team was eliminated from the central district Class B baseball tournament in Columbus Wednesday when Holy Family edged them out by a 3-2 final.

The Ashville crew was scoreless in the first four innings while the Holy Family team racked up three runs, but managed to push across two runs in the fifth.

The game was called because of rain at the end of the fifth, giving Holy Family the victory.

Wilmington Grabs SCOL Track Meet

Circleville Edged For Championship

Circleville's high school thinclads were edged out of first place in the South Central Ohio League track meet held in Wilmington Wednesday afternoon, the host Hurricane crew holding a 56 point final while Circleville trailed in second position with 53½.

Other team scores listed Hillsboro in third place with 25, while Washington C. H. tailed the pack with 19½.

Circleville gained five of the 14 first place positions in Wednesday's meet, Dave Crawford scoring wins in the mile and half-mile events to remain unbeaten in the two events in league competition.

Charles Sabine, who broke the high jump record at the Upper Arlington Relays Tuesday, scored two firsts in the shot put and the high jump. The Tiger mile relay team pulled through for the last Circleville first place win.

Wilmington's ace trackster, Cleo Hamilton, copped top honors at the meet, scoring three first place positions for his squad and helping on the relay team.

Circleville was in the lead of Wednesday's contest for the greater part of the way, but going into the last two events trailed the Hurrican squad by a 48-45½ margin.

IN THE 220-YARD dash, Wilmington picked up first place honors to add five points to its total, while Circleville added only three on third and fourth-place points.

Just before the last telling event, the mile relay, which Circleville was banking on, the track was drenched by rain, slowing it up considerably and leaving pools of water on the inside post.

Circleville easily won the event, but the Wilmington squad iced the meet up by scoring a second position in the event, giving the Hurricane the winning 2½ point edge.

Next Red and Black track participation will be at Delaware, when Coach Tom Bennett plans to send about 12 Circleville lads into district competition there.

Following are the results of the South Central Ohio League championship meet:

120 Yd. High Hurdles—(17.02 sec.)—Jenike (H), Buster (Wi), C. Radcliff (C), Jackson (Wa).
100 Yd. Dash—(10.2)—Hamilton (Wi), Grassli (Wi), Hudson (H), Cockerham (C).
Mile—(4 min. 59.4 sec.)—Crawford (C), Osman (H), Meade (Wi), Thomas (C).
½ mile relay—(1 min. 38.6 sec.)—Wilmington, Circleville, Washington, Hillsboro.
440 Yd. Dash—(55.9 sec.)—Lewis (Wi), Sims (C), Young (C), Van Meter (Wa).
220 Yd. Low Hurdles—(28.8 sec.)—Schmidt (Wi), Radcliff (C), Woodward (C), Jenike (H).
½ mile—(2 min. 13.1 sec.)—Crawford (C), Blair (Wi), Blessing (Wa), Rickman (H).
220 Yd. Dash—(24.3½ sec.)—Hamilton (Wi), Looker (Wa), Hennis (C), Cockerham (C).
Mile Relay—(3 min. 52 sec.)—Circleville, Wilmington, Hillsboro, Washington.
Shot Put—(41 ft. 8 in.)—Sabine (C), Burris (H), Starkey (C), and Start (Wi).
Pole Vault—(10 ft.)—Andrews (Wa), G. Radcliff (C), Albright (C), Smith (Wi), and Cartwright (Wi).
Discus—(122 ft. 5 in.)—Jenike (H), Grasseli (Wi), Sabine (C), Van Meter Wa).
High Jump—(5 ft. 8 in.)—Sabine (C), Stewart (Wi), Buster (Wi), and Graham (Wa).
Broad Jump—(21 ft. 2 in.)—Hamilton (Wi), Graham (Wa), Burris (H), Hennis (C).

ABC May End Current Meet

DETROIT, May 13—Keglers in all events will endeavor today to end the monotonously uninspired pace characterizing activity for the past nine days of the American Bowling Congress' 45th tournament here.

Yesterday's lack-lustre program was topped by the efforts of Art Pike of Fresno, Calif., to break into the first 10 standings in the singles division. He fell 18 pins short with a 677.

L and L of Lima, turned 2767 for the high team score. It was substantially above the low money mark of 2638. But Washingtons of Chicago, pacing the event with 3007, weren't impressed.

Big 9 Baseball Payoff Nears

CHICAGO, May 13—The Western Conference baseball title will rest squarely on doings of tomorrow and Saturday at Champaign, Ill., where unbeaten, defending champion Illinois battles second-place Michigan in a weekend set.

Illinois has won six and lost none. Michigan has a 7-1 record.

The bob-tailed rendezvous should do much, too, towards settling who's the better pitcher—Michigan's Art Dole, who has started four and won four, or Illinois portsiding Marv Rotblatt, who has started three, won three, and has fanned 39 batters in 27 innings.

In Memoriam

Corporal Paul Melvin Styers died in the line of duty while serving his country on May 3, 1942. At the time of his death he was stationed at Fort Kobbe, Panama Canal Zone. He was born November 26, 1920 in Circleville, the son of Harry H. and Stella M. Shafer Styers, and departed this life at the age of 21 years 6 months and 23 days. Besides his parents he leaves 6 brothers and 3 sisters to mourn his passing.

Paul was a quiet boy of gentle disposition. He, with his shy smile was always ready to do more than his share in life. He is deeply missed by all those who knew and loved him.

His Captai wrote his mother these words in regard to his character.

"Corporal Styers was well-liked and respected by all the men of his organization as well as by his officers. He proved himself to be quick-witted, intelligent, and forthright in the performances of all his duties. His loss will be felt deeply from a personal viewpoint as well as a military viewpoint. I have every reason to believe that you may be very proud of your son as a man and a soldier."

He would not want the ones he loves
to grieve for him today;
We must not say that he is dead,
For he is just away—
Away upon a journey to a
land that's bright and fair;
And though we all will miss
him here. We know he's happy there
And memories of him will bring new
comfort every day—
As we recall—he is not dead
For he is just away.

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all those who extended sympathy during our recent bereavement. We especially want to thank Rev. George Troutman for his consoling words. Mrs. Troutman for her lovely songs and Mr. Defenbaugh for his service. We wish also to thank all friends, neighbors and organizations who sent so many beautiful floral offerings. All was deeply appreciated by members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Styers and family

Phillies Making Success Of Current Western Tour

NEW YORK, May 13—The Philadelphia Phillies are having unprecedented success on their western tour while the East's "power" teams—Boston, Brooklyn, and New York have found it rocky going.

The Phillies, despite indefinite loss of their star veteran pitchers, Dutch Leonard and Schoolboy Rowe, have uncovered solid mound work and complemented this with even more skill at the plate.

Their 5-to-0 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates was a combination of hurling and hitting. Blix Donnelly really was spinning against the hard-hitting Bucs.

The Pirates managed only three hits off the stocky right-hander in their first 1948 shutout. Meanwhile, Rookie Outfielder Johnny Blatnik led the 13-hit assault against three Pirate pitchers with a perfect day — three singles and a double.

THE PHILLIES, in racking up four straight victories and five in seven western games, have scored almost eight runs per game and surrendered a fraction over one run per contest to the opposition.

The New York Giants, idled for the third straight day by rain, have won three and lost two. The Brooklyn Dodgers are a game under the .500 mark, and the Boston Braves are barely even.

The other half of the "Philadelphia Story," the Athletics continued along the victory trail with an 8-to-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Six runs in the second inning and relief work by Don Savage and Lou Brissie gave Connie Mack's boys their 10th straight win and a more secure hold on the American League lead.

The Chicago White Sox continue to lose. They did it the hard way yesterday. The last-place Chicagoans had a two-run lead in the 10th inning, but Bobby Doerr, Boston Red Sox second baseman, smashed a three-run homer high over the left-field wall to give Boston a 6-to-5 win.

It was Chicago's eighth straight loss with Reliever Earl Harrist being the victim of the game-winning drive.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 7, but the Reds gave Brooklyn a scare with a four-run outburst in the ninth. Hank Sauer, Cincinnati recruit outfielder, took over the National League homerun leadership with a three-run circuit clout in the ninth. It was Sauer's seventh homerun of the year.

The New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians attempted to play New York's first night game but were rained out at the end of three-and-half-innings. The Yanks were ahead, 3 to 1, by virtue of Joe DiMaggio's three-run homer.

The Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators staged as 27-hit donnybrook with the Tigers blasting out a 14-to-9 triumph.

Saltcreek Plans For District Meet

Several Saltcreek Township cindermen are to enter the Class B Central District meet to be held at Ohio Wesleyan university Saturday.

Superintendent Harold Strous of the Saltcreek school said Thursday he did not yet know which of the boys would participate in Saturday's events, but that the Pickaway County track meet which was to have been held at Walnut Township school Thursday afternoon would decide.

Other schools entered in the Saturday meet are Brown Township, Tully Township, Richwood, Caledonia, Granville, Utica, Washington, Marysville, Groveport, Columbus Rosary, Gahanna Lincoln and Canal Winchester.

Ashville Drops Tourney Game

Ashville high school's baseball team was eliminated from the central district Class B baseball tournament in Columbus Wednesday when Holy Family edged them out by a 3-2 final.

The Ashville crew was scoreless in the first four innings while the Holy Family team racked up three runs, but managed to push across two runs in the fifth.

The game was called because of rain at the end of the fifth, giving Holy Family the victory.

Wilmington Grabs SCOL Track Meet

Circleville Edged For Championship

Circleville's high school thinclads were edged out of first place in the South Central Ohio League track meet held in Wilmington Wednesday afternoon, the host Hurricane crew holding a 56 point final while Circleville trailed in second position with 53½.

Other team scores listed Hillsboro in third place with 25, while Washington C. H. tailed the pack with 19½.

Circleville gained five of the 14 first place positions in Wednesday's meet, Dave Crawford scoring wins in the mile and half-mile events to remain unbeaten in the two events in league competition.

Charles Sabine, who broke the high jump record at the Upper Arlington Relays Tuesday, scored two firsts in the shot put and the high jump. The Tiger mile relay team pulled through for the last Circleville first place win.

Wilmington's ace trackster, Cleo Hamilton, copped top honors at the meet, scoring three first place positions for his squad and helping on the relay team.

Circleville was in the lead of Wednesday's contest for the greater part of the way, but going into the last two events trailed the Hurrican squad by a 48-45½ margin.

IN THE 220-YARD dash, Wilmington picked up first place honors to add five points to its total, while Circleville added only three on third and fourth-place points.

Just before the last telling event, the mile relay, which Circleville was banking on, the track was drenched by rain, slowing it up considerably and leaving pools of water on the inside post.

Circleville easily won the event, but the Wilmington squad iced the meet up by scoring a second position in the event, giving the Hurricane the winning 2½ point edge.

Next Red and Black track participation will be at Delaware, when Coach Tom Bennett plans to send about 12 Circleville lads into district competition there.

Following are the results of the South Central Ohio League championship meet:

120 Yd. High Hurdles—(17.02 sec.)—Jenike (H), Buster (Wi), C. Radcliff (C), Jackson (Wa).

ABC May End Current Meet

DETROIT, May 13—Keglers in all events will endeavor today to end the monotonously uninspired pace characterizing activity for the past nine days of the American Bowling Congress' 45th tournament here.

Yesterday's lack-lustre program was topped by the efforts of Art Pike of Fresno, Calif., to break into the first 10 standings in the singles division. He fell 18 pins short with a 677.

L and L of Lima, turned 2767 for the high team score. It was substantially above the low money mark of 2638. But Washingtons of Chicago, pacing the event with 3007, weren't impressed.

Big 9 Baseball Payoff Nears

CHICAGO, May 13—The Western Conference baseball title will rest squarely on doings of tomorrow and Saturday at Champaign, Ill., where unbeaten, defending champion Illinois battles second-place Michigan in a weekend set.

Illinois has won six and lost none. Michigan has a 7-1 record.

The bob-tailed rendezvous should do much, too, towards settling who's the better pitcher—Michigan's Art Dole, who has started four and won four, or Illinois portsiding Marv Rotblatt, who has started three, won three, and has fanned 39 batters in 27 innings.

Peak Production Demand To Require Top Conservation

Protection Of Soil Is Stressed

Best Urges Close Land Management

Another call by the government for peak production in 1948 heightens the need for conservation measures in Pickaway County that will protect and restore the soil, Larry Best, county agricultural agent declared Thursday.

"Crop goals that ask American farmers to plant 356 million acres this year have been set by the U. S. Department of Agriculture," Best recalled. "This is an increase of nine million acres compared with 1947."

"U. S. farm production is more than ever a prime factor in world recovery. We must continue to feed hungry millions overseas and meet our own domestic food needs as well.

"Without careful land management farmers may sacrifice future yields to meet these crop goals," the agent warns. "Continued production of row crops without grasses and legumes in the rotation destroys soil structure. From unprotected fields water is washing away topsoil and leaching out plant nutrients. Careless handling of animal manure and crop residues wastes precious organic matter and plant food.

"INSURANCE for future yields comes through land management that cuts erosion losses, rebuilds soil structure and returns plant nutrients sold off the farm in crops and livestock. Topping the list of protective measures is the use of well fed legumes and grasses to restore organic matter and rebuild soil structure.

"Deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa and sweet clover are especially valuable. These legumes, when well fed with commercial fertilizer, will push their tap roots deep into tightly packed soil, opening it to air and water. The organic matter left by dead roots rebuilds soil structure so that fertilizers are more efficiently used.

"Insurance, too, is the careful handling and return to the soil of animal manures and crop residues to protect against needless loss of organic matter and valuable plant food."

Vandenberg Gets College's Nod

CLEVELAND, May 13 — If Ohio collegians selected Presidents, United States Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg apparently would be a shoo-in to win in November.

The gentleman from Michigan, named presidential choice of the Republican mock convention at Oberlin Saturday, was nominated for the presidency on the third ballot at a Republican mock convention last night at the Case Institute of Technology here.

Vandenberg polled 649 votes to 220 for Harold E. Stassen, who then was named vice-presidential choice.

2 Jap Chiefs To Face Trial Before Chinese

TOKYO, May 13 — Kenshiro Shibayama and Masatane Kanda, one time lieutenant generals in the defunct Japanese army, were arrested here today for removal to Nanking where they will be tried by a Chinese military commission.

Few Japanese tried for war crimes in China escape the death penalty.

Shibayama, who testified for the defense at the international war crimes trial in Tokyo, is accused of having plotted the Marco Polo bridge incident which started the Sino-Japanese war in 1937.

He also is accused of having established and directed Japan's puppet government in Nanking.

Kanda's Sixth Imperial Division is accused of the slaughter of more than 5,000 civilians in Central China shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor. Shibayama was a vice-minister of war in the cabinet of Premier Koiso.

Peak Production Demand To Require Top Conservation

Protection Of Soil Is Stressed

Best Urges Close Land Management

Another call by the government for peak production in 1948 heightens the need for conservation measures in Pickaway County that will protect and restore the soil, Larry Best, county agricultural agent declared Thursday.

"Crop goals that ask American farmers to plant 356 million acres this year have been set by the U. S. Department of Agriculture," Best recalled. "This is an increase of nine million acres compared with 1947."

"U. S. farm production is more than ever a prime factor in world recovery. We must continue to feed hungry millions overseas and meet our own domestic food needs as well.

"Without careful land management farmers may sacrifice future yields to meet these crop goals," the agent warns. "Continued production of row crops without grasses and legumes in the rotation destroys soil structure. From unprotected fields water is washing away topsoil and leaching out plant nutrients. Careless handling of animal manure and crop residues wastes precious organic matter and plant food.

"INSURANCE for future yields comes through land management that cuts erosion losses, rebuilds soil structure and returns plant nutrients sold off the farm in crops and livestock. Topping the list of protective measures is the use of well fed legumes and grasses to restore organic matter and rebuild soil structure.

"Deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa and sweet clover are especially valuable. These legumes, when well fed with commercial fertilizer, will push their tap roots deep into tightly packed soil, opening it to air and water. The organic matter left by dead roots rebuilds soil structure so that fertilizers are more efficiently used.

"Insurance, too, is the careful handling and return to the soil of animal manures and crop residues to protect against needless loss of organic matter and valuable plant food."

Vandenberg Gets College's Nod

CLEVELAND, May 13 — If Ohio collegians selected Presidents, United States Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg apparently would be a shoo-in to win in November.

The gentleman from Michigan, named presidential choice of the Republican mock convention at Oberlin Saturday, was nominated for the presidency on the third ballot at a Republican mock convention last night at the Case Institute of Technology here.

Vandenberg polled 649 votes to 220 for Harold E. Stassen, who then was named vice-presidential choice.

2 Jap Chiefs To Face Trial Before Chinese

TOKYO, May 13 — Kenshiro Shibayama and Masatane Kanda, one time lieutenant generals in the defunct Japanese army, were arrested here today for removal to Nanking where they will be tried by a Chinese military commission.

Few Japanese tried for war crimes in China escape the death penalty.

Shibayama, who testified for the defense at the international war crimes trial in Tokyo, is accused of having plotted the Marco Polo bridge incident which started the Sino-Japanese war in 1937.

He also is accused of having established and directed Japan's puppet government in Nanking.

Kanda's Sixth Imperial Division is accused of the slaughter of more than 5,000 civilians in Central China shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor. Shibayama was a vice-minister of war in the cabinet of Premier Koiso.

A willow can be put near the soda mounds, near Soda Springs, Id., and if water drips on it, inside of one month the willow will be coated with red formation as solid as a rock.
